The
SENIOR SICKLE

*A review of the Nineteen twenty-eight and twenty-nine
High School Year*

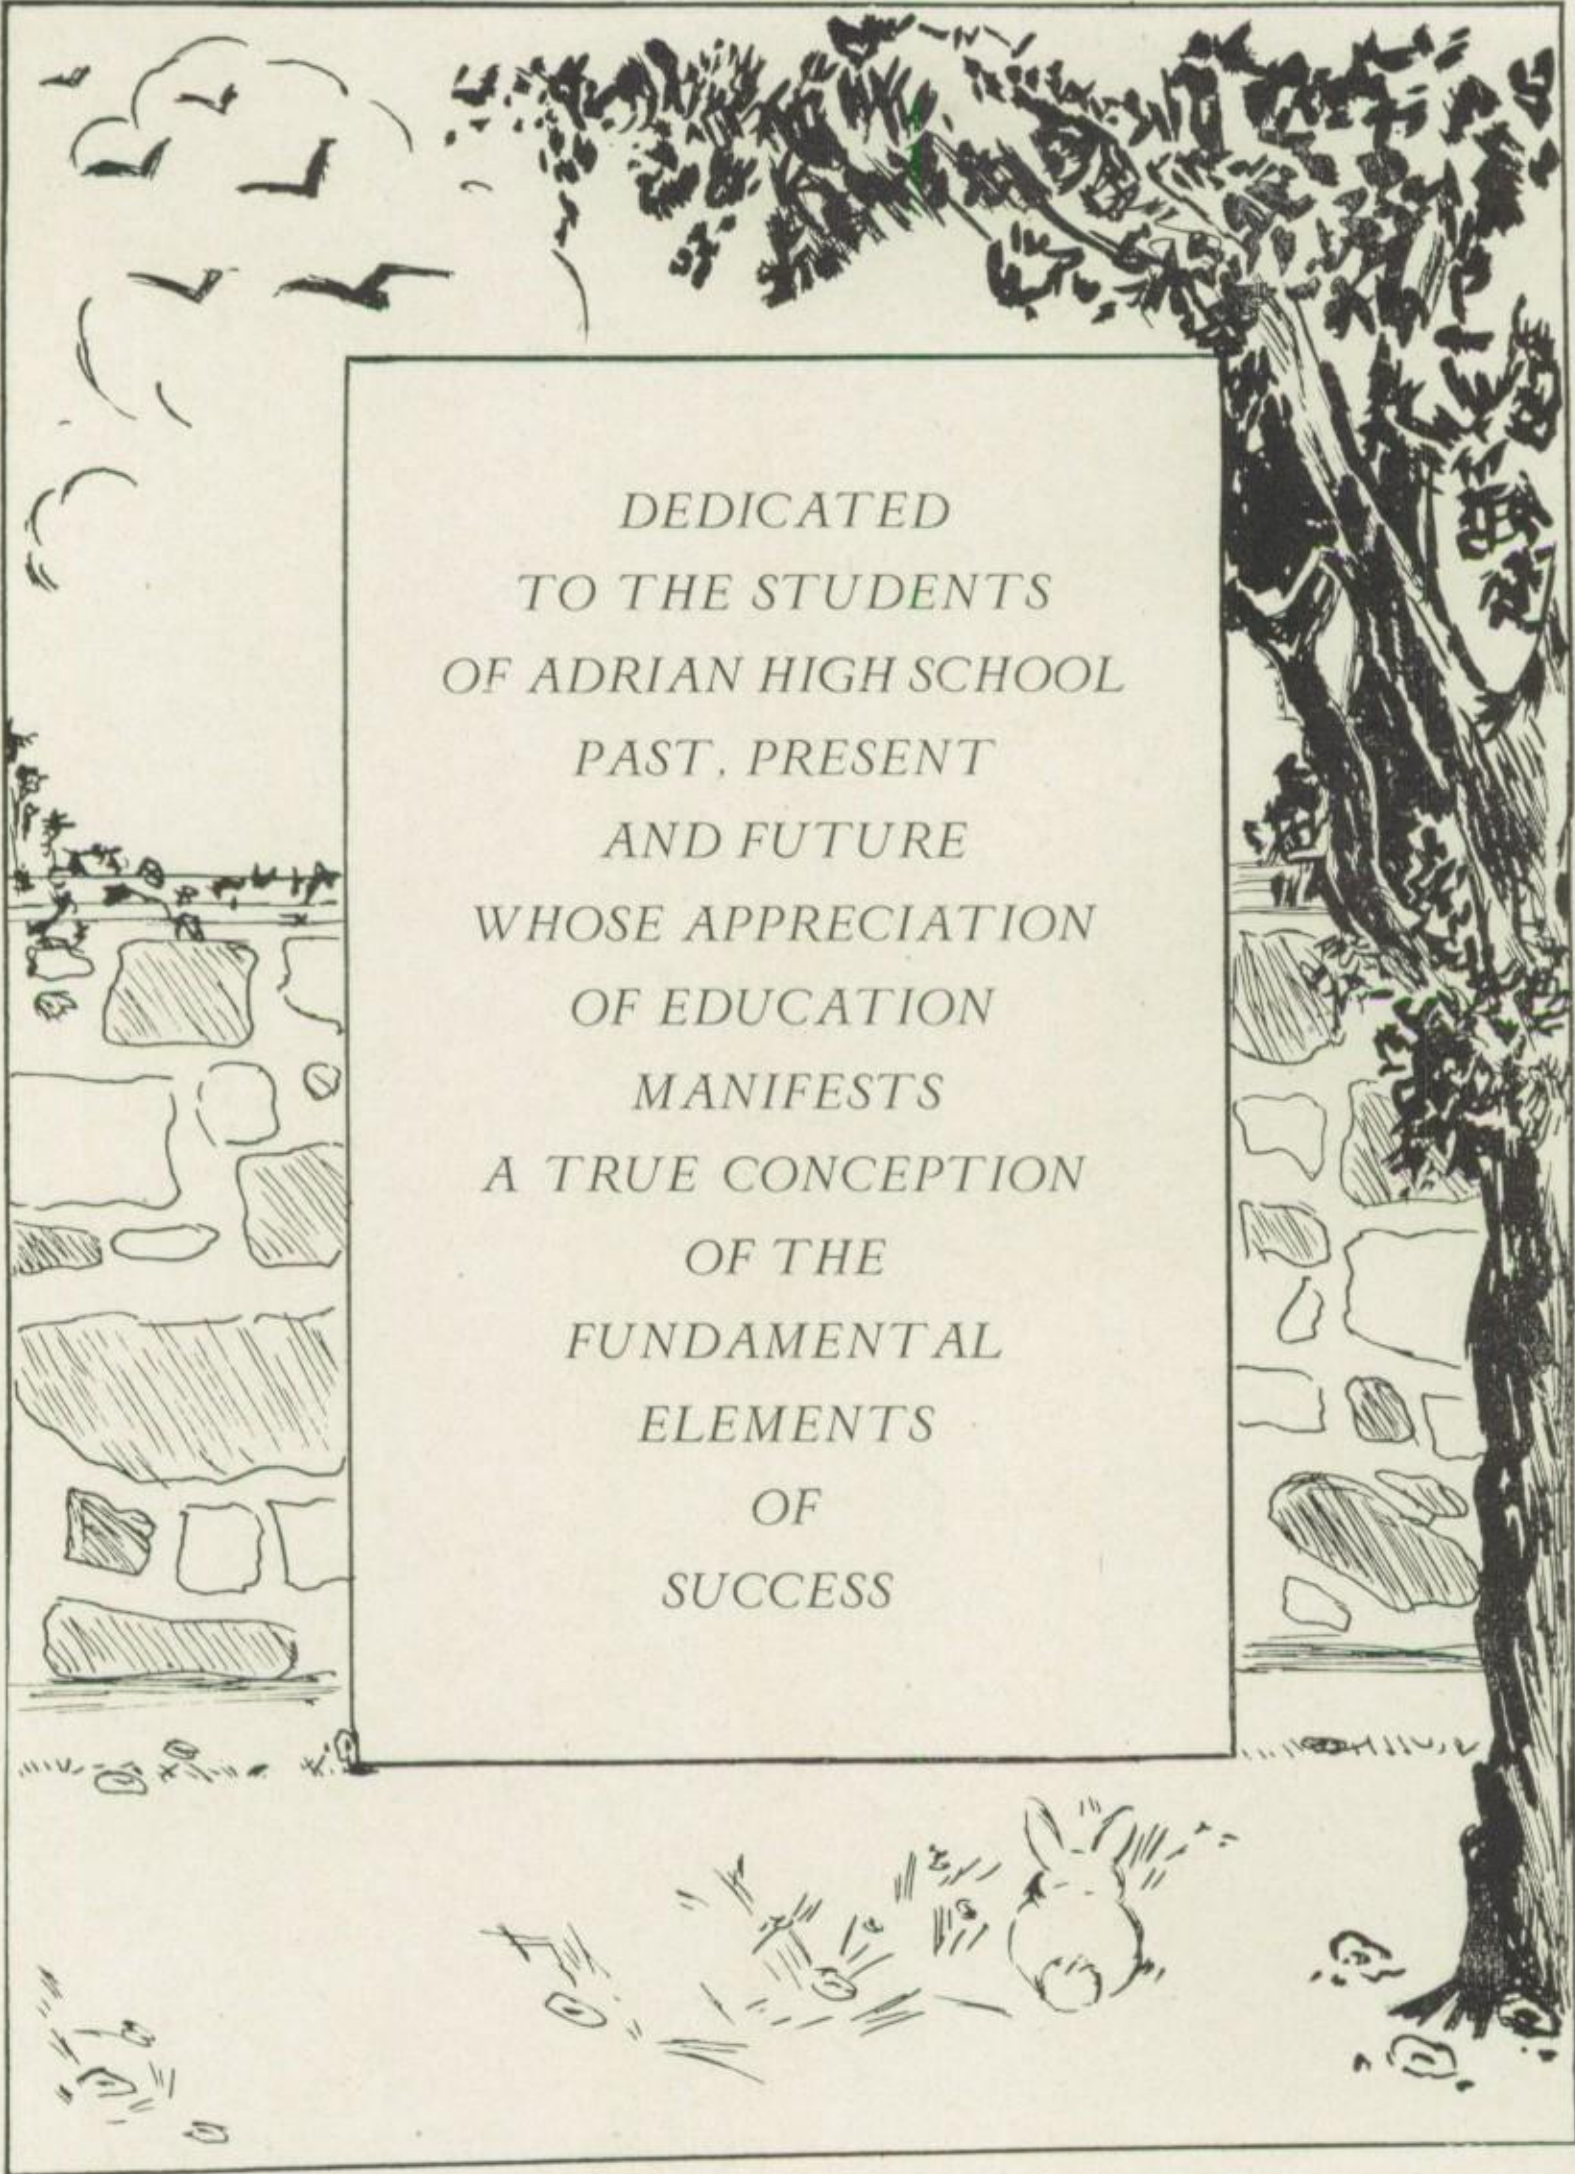

Volume Thirty-three

*Published by the
HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR CLASS
Adrian, Michigan*

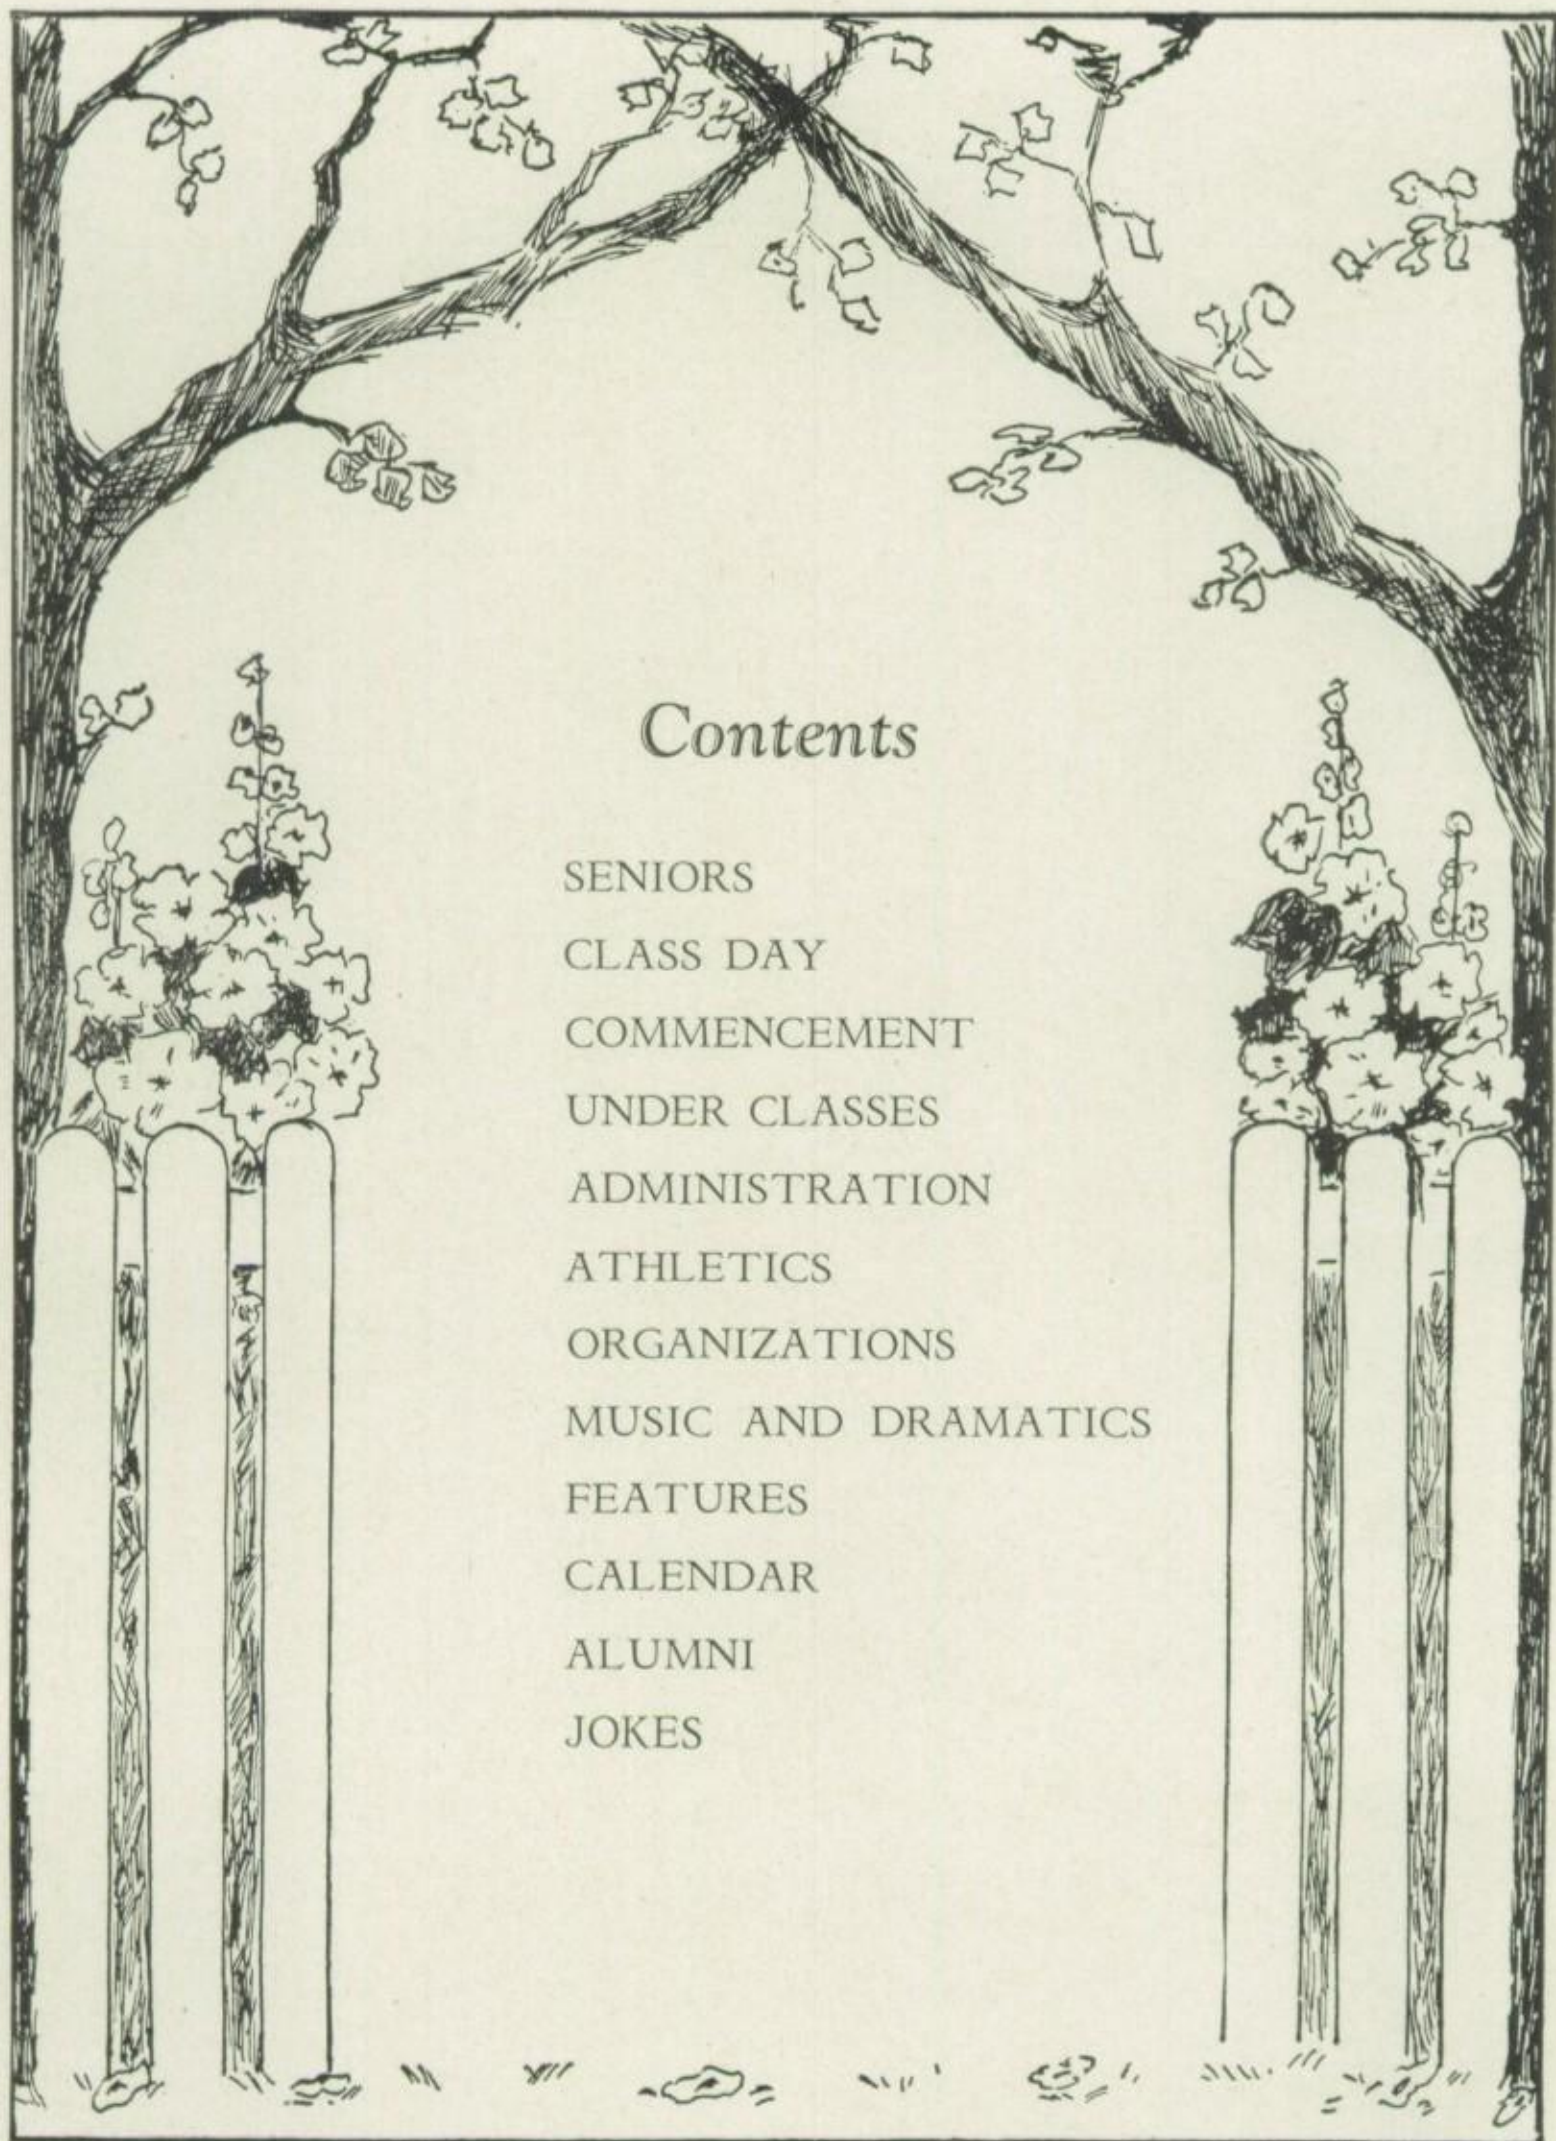

Foreword

MAY those who glance through the pages of this annual find an expression of satisfaction and an attempt to set forth those organizations and associations which have given to the class of nineteen twenty-nine many fond remembrances and fundamentals both of education and of character which shall be as guards to us till life closes. What finer contribution could be made? What heritage would be more appreciated? Setting forth in life with these qualities makes for better men and women.

In Memoriam

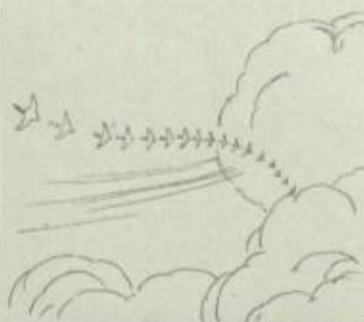

*"There is no Death! What seems so is transition:
This life of mortal breath
Is but a suburb of the life Elysian,
Whose portal we call Death."*

Paul R. Gearhart was born in Mohawk, New York, July 23, 1910. He came to Adrian in 1924, and entered our class that year in the seventh grade. Paul was known and liked very well by all the students and teachers on account of his eager, kind and jolly manner. He likewise participated in all school activities until his death July 23, 1928.

George Pentland was born February 11, 1911, in Adrian, Michigan. He entered our class in September, 1927 and during the first semester of our junior year made many friends and took part in many school activities. George was not able to return the last semester on account of failing health and died on September 28, 1928.

Julia K. Davis was born in Adrian, Michigan on June 19, 1911. She became a member of our class in 1925 and will always be remembered for her kind and winsome ways which won for her many friends. Julia died May 10, 1929.

VALEDICTORY

THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD

MAITLE DERBY

AND God said, "Let there be light," and there was light. And God saw the light, that it was good; and God divided the light from the darkness. Light has always been good. Its value to the human race can hardly be overestimated.

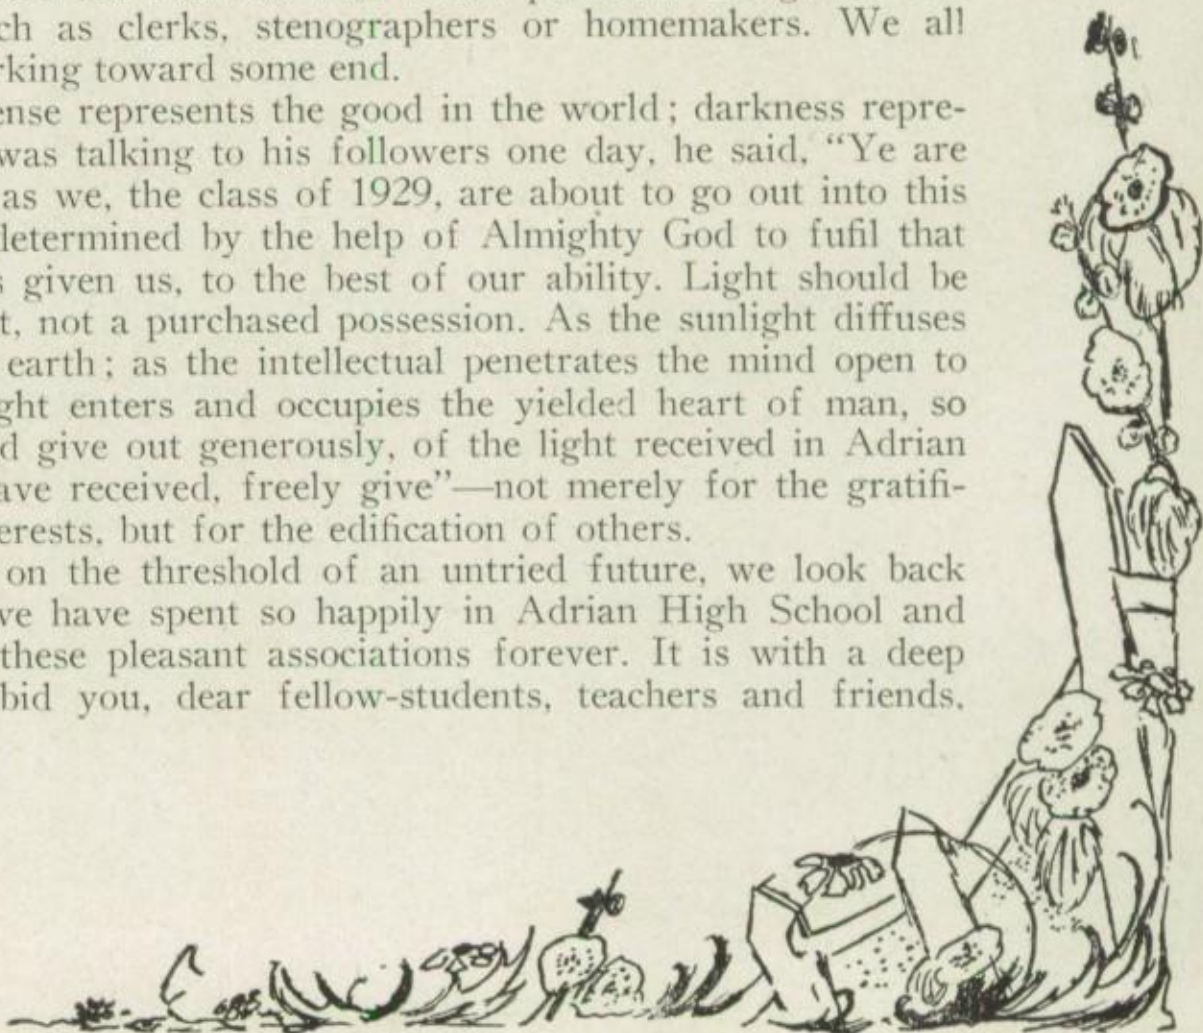

There are three ways in which the word light may be interpreted, as applied to the physical, to the intellectual or to the spiritual world.

Physical light, created by God in the beginning of the world, is defined as a form of radiant energy or movement of the ether-waves which travels to us from the sun at the speed of about one hundred and eighty-six thousand miles per second. It is necessary for the support of life, hence it was provided before any form of life was placed upon the earth. When the sun comes out, the flowers seem to lift their smiling faces toward the sky in thanksgiving to their Creator, but when the sun has set and the shadows hover over the earth, the blossoms close as if they wanted to shut out the darkness. Light also has its effect on the human race. When a day is dark and rainy, we all are inclined to be downcast and out-of-sorts, but when the sun is shining brightly, it seems to send its rays of happiness into our very hearts.

Just as physical light reacts upon the eye, so does intellectual light react upon the mind. Many times this has been proved when in school the teacher is trying to explain some hard algebra problem or perhaps some theorem in geometry. At first it all seems very vague and we do not understand it. Then suddenly the light dawns upon us, so to speak, and we wonder why we did not see it before. Since one must have light before he can impart it to others, we, the class of 1929, have been striving for twelve long years to obtain a greater breadth of knowledge so that we may be of benefit to our nation and the world. At this time, we, as a class, wish to thank you, dear parents and teachers, for the help and advice you have so kindly given us. Some of us are planning to go on to college and become doctors, lawyers or teachers, others perhaps are thinking of holding some high office in the government, still others are satisfied with lower positions though no less honorable or necessary, such as clerks, stenographers or homemakers. We all have our dreams and are working toward some end.

Light in the spiritual sense represents the good in the world; darkness represents the evil. While Jesus was talking to his followers one day, he said, "Ye are the light of the world" and as we, the class of 1929, are about to go out into this great world, we should be determined by the help of Almighty God to fulfil that great mission which He has given us, to the best of our ability. Light should be considered as a priceless gift, not a purchased possession. As the sunlight diffuses itself freely over the whole earth; as the intellectual penetrates the mind open to admit it; as the spiritual light enters and occupies the yielded heart of man, so we, the class of 1929, should give out generously, of the light received in Adrian High School—"Freely ye have received, freely give"—not merely for the gratification of self and selfish interests, but for the edification of others.

And now as we pause on the threshold of an untried future, we look back over the past years which we have spent so happily in Adrian High School and realize that we must leave these pleasant associations forever. It is with a deep feeling of regret that we bid you, dear fellow-students, teachers and friends, farewell.

SALUTATORY

THE DAWN OF A NEW DAY

LUCILE HYPES

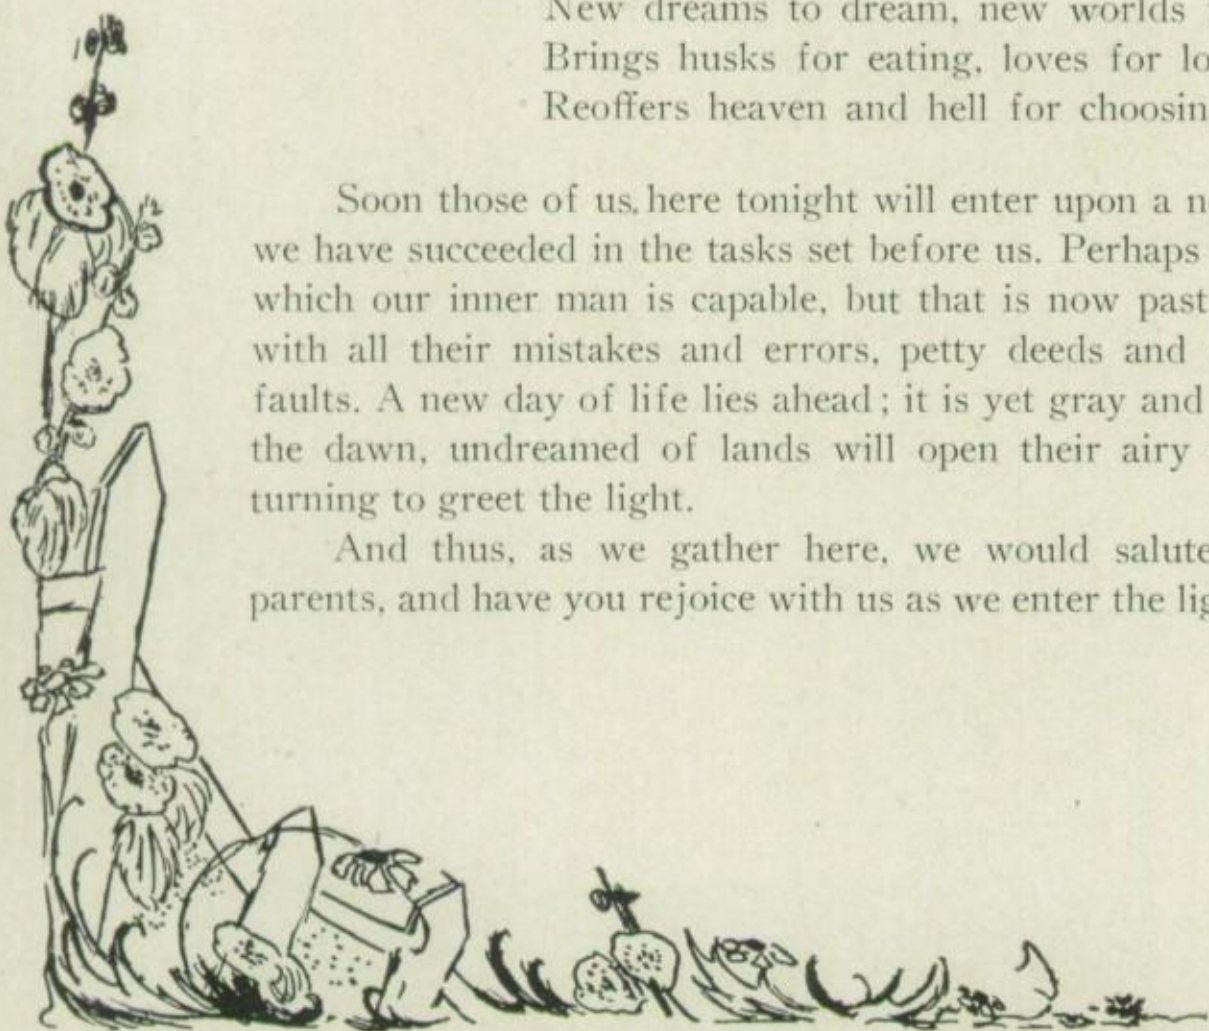

THE Dawn of a new day! How fraught with meaning is that expression! Long ago, primitive tribes worshipped the sun, and in early morning, at dawn, they would go forth to greet its rising. To them it was a symbol of life, warmth, and new things. The Mohammedans, at sunrise where ever they might be, at home or in the desert, would face the east, as they bowed in prayer, while these words rang out: "Allah il Allah! There is no God but Allah, and Mohammed is his prophet."

We of today do not worship the sun, but the early dawn has an important place in our lives. It means rebirth, a time of new beginnings. One of the most beautiful pictures in the Bible is that of the dawn of Easter, and the Resurrection. "In the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn towards the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre." And there in the early dawning they received the news of the resurrection: "He is not here, for He is risen as He said." And later Christ, in addressing his friends, said, "Lo! I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." Thus we see what the dawn means in our own religion: The promise of new life with the new day, a spiritual resurrection, and the constant presence of the comforter. We can bring the spirit of the resurrection into our daily lives, if we earnestly try to rise from the old, dead, cast-off garments of yesterday, to the newer, and higher things of to-day. One of our own poets, Edwin Markham, expresses the same thought in these lines:

"Every day brings a new beginning;
New dreams to dream, new worlds for winning;
Brings husks for eating, loves for losing;
Reoffers heaven and hell for choosing."

Soon those of us, here tonight will enter upon a new era of our lives. Thus far we have succeeded in the tasks set before us. Perhaps we have not done the best of which our inner man is capable, but that is now past. It is among the yesterdays, with all their mistakes and errors, petty deeds and foolish words, misdeeds and faults. A new day of life lies ahead; it is yet gray and dim, but soon, in the light of the dawn, undreamed of lands will open their airy vistas before the eyes again turning to greet the light.

And thus, as we gather here, we would salute you, friends, teachers and parents, and have you rejoice with us as we enter the light of the dawn of a new day.

CLASS HISTORY

MILDRED FOLTZ

THREE years ago on September thirteenth, nineteen-hundred twenty-six a group of freshmen entered the doors of Senior High, being admonished by elder brothers and sisters how to take care of themselves. The first few days were nerve-racking for where our classes were and how to recite we did not know. We soon got over this when we found that even some Seniors could not find their classes.

We wisely chose Byron Vedder to be our president and Mrs. Cairns as our class adviser. Though only freshmen we proved that we could take a stand with the rest of the classes in athletics. Then our president was on the debating team. One happy year had passed, and we left our places to future freshmen.

After a very short vacation we returned to dear old A. H. S. There were many new faces but we greatly missed some of the old ones. This year we selected Ray Wetherbee for our leader. Again we made our class famous by taking part in all athletic contests. Two of our class received places on the debating team. We were also well represented in the Operetta "Lelewala" and in the state music contest. At the close of the year, we gave the Senior Send-Off at the Masonic Temple. This was the height of all our ambitions and one of the best ever given.

But during all our social joys and troubles we must not forget the loss of two of our class members, Paul Gearhart and George Pentland, who are sincerely mourned by the Junior Class and Adrian High School.

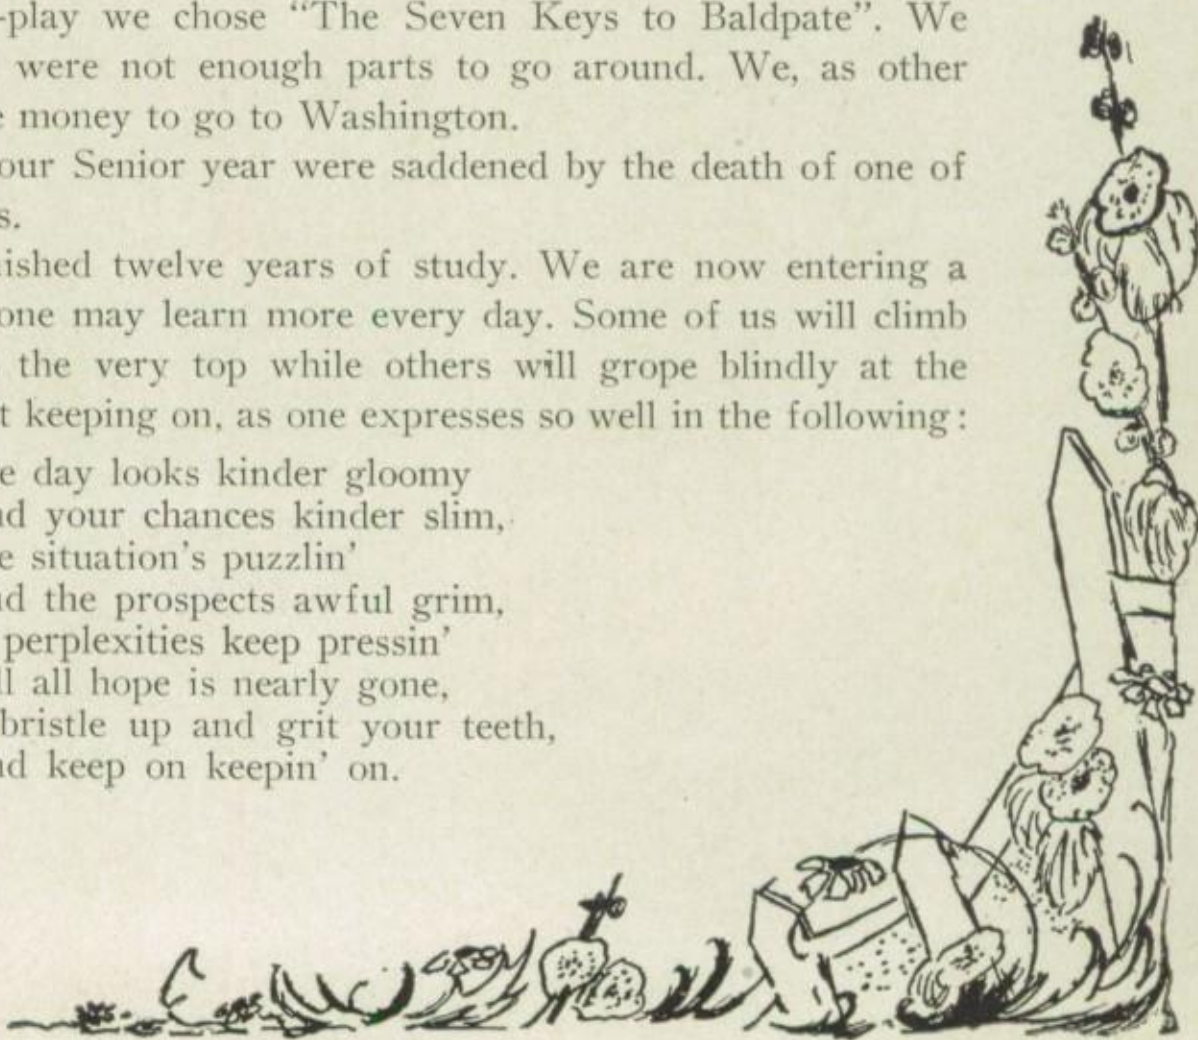

How vacation time flew! Almost before we left the doors of Senior High we had to enter them again. This year we placed all our worries and cares on the head of Wendell Patchet. He has led us wisely through our last year.

Ray Wetherbee distinguished himself by receiving a place on the Second State Football Team. Three of the members of our class helped make our debating team successful. Several in our class received parts in the Opera, "The Bells of Capistrano". For our class-play we chose "The Seven Keys to Baldpate". We were only sorry that there were not enough parts to go around. We, as other classes, worked hard to raise money to go to Washington.

The last few weeks of our Senior year were saddened by the death of one of our schoolmates, Julia Davis.

Soon we shall have finished twelve years of study. We are now entering a world of knowledge where one may learn more every day. Some of us will climb the ladder of "Success" to the very top while others will grope blindly at the foot but there is hope by just keeping on, as one expresses so well in the following:

If the day looks kinder gloomy
And your chances kinder slim,
If the situation's puzzlin'
And the prospects awful grim,
And perplexities keep pressin'
Till all hope is nearly gone,
Jest bristle up and grit your teeth,
And keep on keepin' on.

CLASS ORATION

BROTHERHOOD

BYRON C. VEDDER

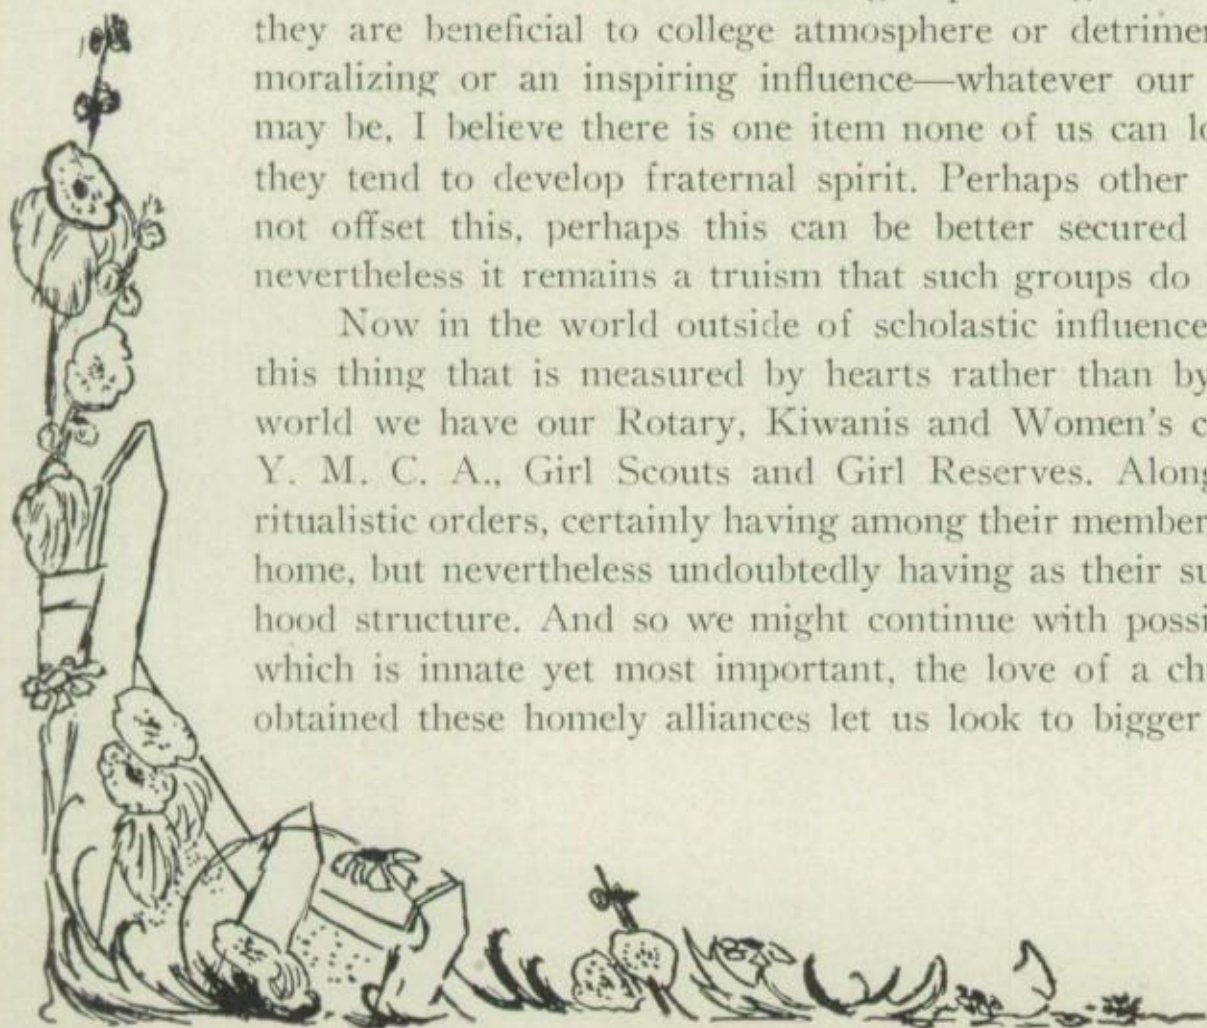

FRIENDS, tonight we are assembled as members of a high school graduating class. Thousands of classes throughout the United States have met in like manner in the past and thousands will likewise assemble in the future. Groups in this class, as in most graduating groups, have for thirteen years been together during the course of their studies; a still larger number have continued together during the carrying out of the high school activities and the membership of the class as it is tonight is perhaps precisely as it has been only a few weeks. In an assemblage of people the personnel is constantly changing and this is never truer than in a high school body. There is an intangible something that is developed, however, between its members; something that is spoken perhaps not by the wagging of the tongue but by the beating of the heart. That thing is called friendship.

The grade-school child notices a fellow pupil and from the first, develops an amity, which continues in many instances during a life time. The development of many such individual friendships makes for a group fraternal spirit such as a graduating class possesses.

A step from high school is the college. This link in the educational chain is not wholly unlike the preparatory and grammar schools in its developments. It depends on group organization, group victories, and group success. Brotherly feelings are attained perhaps through different channels but a university likens itself to every other institution in that hundreds of individual amities tend toward collected brotherhood.

While on the subject of college friendship it might not be wholly inappropriate to mention that much-discussed and rather unsettled problem, college secret organizations. Whether we are for such groups or against them, whether we believe that they are beneficial to college atmosphere or detrimental, whether they are a demoralizing or an inspiring influence—whatever our opinions on these questions may be, I believe there is one item none of us can lose sight of and that is, that they tend to develop fraternal spirit. Perhaps other factors in their existence do not offset this, perhaps this can be better secured through other methods, but nevertheless it remains a truism that such groups do bring cementing associations.

Now in the world outside of scholastic influences, there is no losing sight of this thing that is measured by hearts rather than by words. For in the business world we have our Rotary, Kiwanis and Women's clubs while for the youth the Y. M. C. A., Girl Scouts and Girl Reserves. Along with these may be ranked ritualistic orders, certainly having among their memberships proof of lessons carried home, but nevertheless undoubtedly having as their supreme achievement, brotherhood structure. And so we might continue with possible attachments: of that one which is innate yet most important, the love of a child for a parent. But having obtained these homely alliances let us look to bigger fields, international brotherhood. Ah! there is the sphere of possibility, the answer to many problems, a most far reaching opportunity.

A problem ever prominent in politics, consistently before every government is the one of world-peace. However, this problem has never been satisfactorily solved. We have groups that believe that peace can be secured only after further strife, we have those that see the solution to the problem in disarmament and we have others that favor the popular peace pacts. I am of the opinion, however, that the truer answer is the one ever gaining prominence, international fraternity. Written documents will always secure at the best only mediocre success as long as the world is made up of human beings, and such is predicted to be its composition for years to come. I am thoroughly convinced that peace pacts are but mere empty forms when compared to that more modern possibility, heart alliances.

Truly we are just entering into this. Its benefits will not be conceived undoubtedly for a decade or two. The encouraging feature is that it is being strengthened by youthful enterprises. As an excellent example we have the international jamboree of Boy Scouts to be held in Birkenhead, England only next month. But the most inspiring and most convincing prediction for its success is based on a program of no international rivalry, no competition to develop ill feeling. This organization and the sponsors of this assemblage have as their primary purpose this development of friendship. For a youth of Denmark to chum with a youth from France, for a boy from Sudan to do nothing perhaps but shake hands with a boy from England and for a scout from America to be with a boy from Sweden is actual practice of a great lesson and one whose benefits will be felt in the future.

This, however, is not the first attempt by many to do this very thing. This same organization has had like jamborees in the past. The Y. M. C. A. leaders of the world held a meeting some few years ago in Finland and the accomplishments of this meeting again revert to youth, and thus is a foundation for the future. The Rotary Club in its European convention some time ago was shooting for the same mark and well might any movement be proud of its work in this channel. There have been numerous like gatherings in the past few years and there will be a much larger proportion in the next quarter of a century. This work of organizations is comparatively new and its results will not be read for time to come. In the past, peoples did not see its possibilities, but here we must make one exception. The churches of the world have from early times carried on this uplifting work realizing it to be a direct fruit of the teachings of Christ and the development of what international friendly feeling that there may have been in the past, was in a large measure due to the ambitious work of the Christian Church.

We can all catch a vision of the results world brotherhood would bring. Its big accomplishment, its popular plea is the ability of this thing to answer such a major problem as war. We can dicker with nations relative to peace pacts, we can talk until we are blue in the face but our attainments are little. We can fool ourselves by believing that this or that strife is a war to end wars; but succeeding years bring on another conflict and still no universal peace is secured.

We cannot under-value this thing. If we must talk of the value of brotherhood in finances, we know that millions are expended by governments every year for military preparation and at the same time these self same governments are spending much more to avert war. Inconsistent truly, but the expenditure for both preparation and compromising will be abolished in years to come by universal friendship.

We can speak of its appraisal in human lives. There indeed we cannot estimate its value. We are conscious of the fact that each war means death to thousands, incapacitating many more and leaving widows and orphans. We are conscious of this, I say, and yet with the stains of conflict yet on our mind we see another war upon us. Can we allow this chance to pass? Can we, if you please, afford to furnish human blood when the means of saving it are so simply met?

If we will, we can value friendship between peoples in the matter of time. Time is a costly element, a thing of which the average person feels that he is being robbed. Yet the time of great men spent in preparation of war, in actual strife and in avoiding war by disarmament, or whatever method they may choose, if put to other uses would furnish us with men great in the intellectual, business and professional worlds.

This international amity is a great thing. We have been meeting it in the past in a measure through our churches and their foreign missionaries but we are meeting it today more and more by the works of numerous organizations and individuals. The future will see great accomplishments because we befriended a foreign neighbor, because we recognized the stand of a foreign rival. And so we see the possibility of the answer to one of our biggest problems through this self same practice we are striving for at home. However, while we are visioning world brotherhood, let us not forget our neighborly friendships. Finally we may well be thankful that this is secured not by bombastic speeches or lengthy edicts but by the throbbing of the human heart.

CLASS PROPHECY

LUCILLE HIFTLINE AND CLARENCE MATTHES

WELL, if it isn't my old friend! And what have you been doing for the last ten years?

Oh! I'm still wandering around hunting up material for my new series of lectures, "The Likes and Dislikes of a Silk Worm." By the way, are you still managing that chain of Schmidt Stores?

No, Irene Schmidt went bankrupt and the creditors, Dulcie Cultice and Marie Dinus, took them over. I'm a detective now. I'm expecting to leave for Egypt as soon as the convention is over. Some of our old friends are in a rather preposterous position. It seems that Sultan Elwood Kuney has seven wives in his harem against their will, and there seems no possibility of escape. Only one of them wants to stay. It is Annette Iveson. She always did have a weakness for Palaces. The other unfortunate beauties are Ella Bancroft, Elizabeth Brittain, Anna Jenkins, Alice Ranger, Doris Negus and Ruth Lutes. Miss Lutes is exasperated because she looks horrid in pantaloons.

I'd enjoy a trip there myself, but I'm leaving for the extreme Arctic regions as soon as possible. It is a rescue project also. Harry Rogers conducted a tour up there for young ladies who were interested in the Ice Business. Harry sent an S. O. S. saying the members of the party were melting all the ice up there. They are Mildred Foltz, Alice Bush, May Case and Katherine Grace.

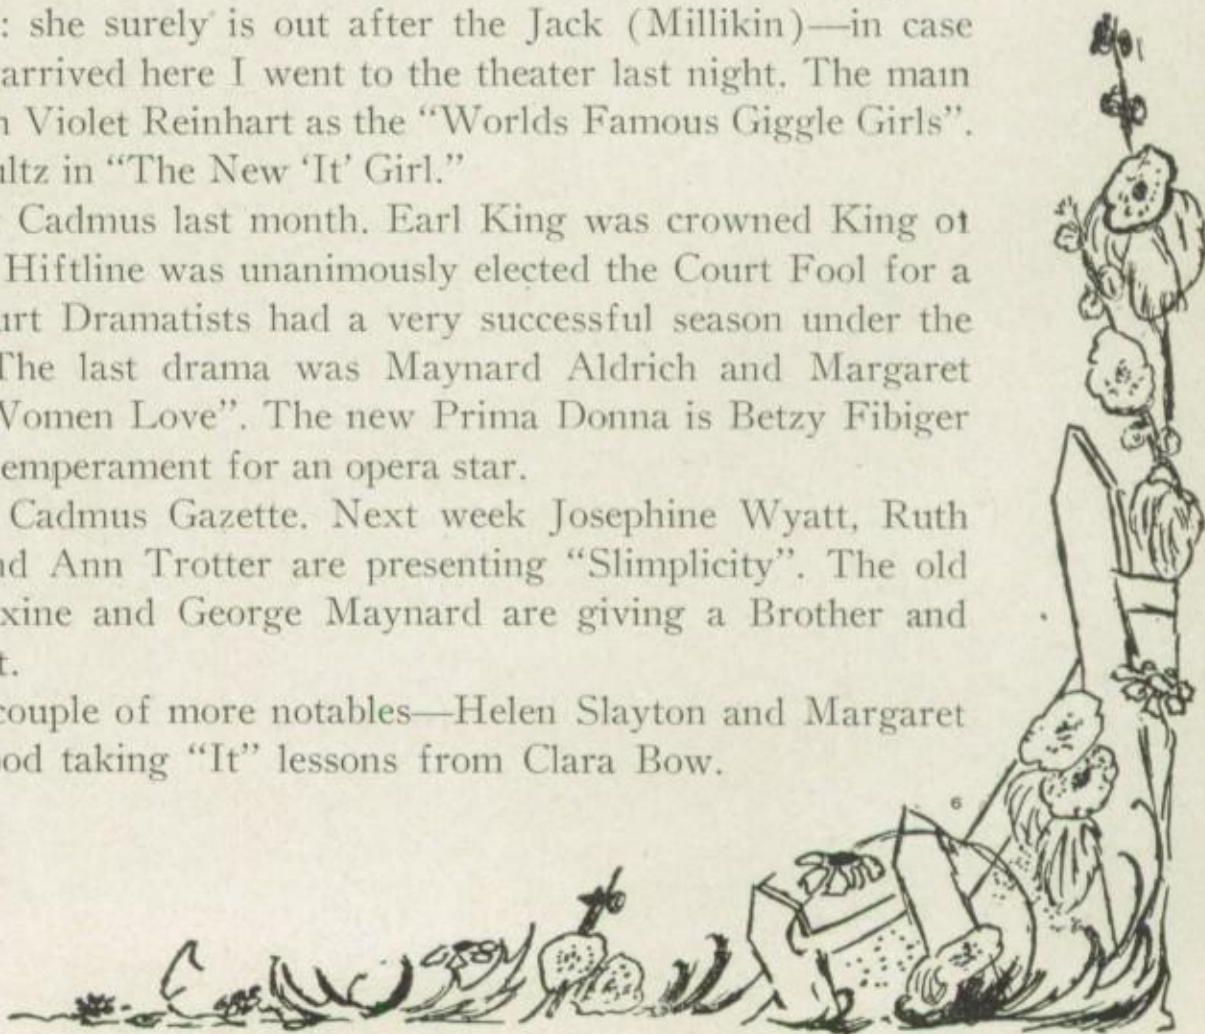

Have you heard of the Noble Work Lucile Hypes is devoting her life to? She is the editor of a column for the "Love-Lorn" in the Birdsell Twitter. It's quite a paper when you think of the publisher—Ray Wetherbee. Have you been thru Birdsell lately?

Yes, I stopped on my way here. I found that Ruth Coryell is their post-mistress. You know she always did like to read notes in her high school days. Just outside of Adrian I stopped at a road-house with some friends. I saw Frances Wagner, the Notorious Gold-Digger: she surely is out after the Jack (Millikin)—in case you didn't know it. When I arrived here I went to the theater last night. The main feature was "Laughter" with Violet Reinhart as the "Worlds Famous Giggle Girls". The comedy was Helen Schultz in "The New 'It' Girl."

They had a big time at Cadmus last month. Earl King was crowned King of that vast domain and Helen Hiftline was unanimously elected the Court Fool for a term of five years. The Court Dramatists had a very successful season under the reign of Stanley Phipps. The last drama was Maynard Aldrich and Margaret Merrilat in "The Man the Women Love". The new Prima Donna is Betzy Fibiger—she has such a wonderful temperament for an opera star.

I read about it in the Cadmus Gazette. Next week Josephine Wyatt, Ruth Hamilton, Helen Prange and Ann Trotter are presenting "Simplicity". The old class is quite dramatic. Maxine and George Maynard are giving a Brother and Sister Act on a Keith Circuit.

We'll probably have a couple of more notables—Helen Slayton and Margaret Graham are out in Hollywood taking "It" lessons from Clara Bow.

Where did you hear about it?

Cliffort Hasset was down in Hollywood copying Parisienne Gowns as a specialty for Montgomery Ward. Alice Anderson, Marian Babcock and Edna Baily were the models.

It's funny what will happen to people when they are out of school. Sheldon Little has found a way to grow peanuts already shucked and salted. Say what's that place on M-80 that's all fenced in?

Oh that. Well you see Orlena Conklin, Marie Buske, Annabell Parlatt, Ora Moeller and Ethelyn Caswell believe that marriage is dangerous. They occupy Manless Manor. Marie Bradish, Marguerite Wiley and Vivian Waldron have been swayed to believe it too. They are joining it in the near future.

I heard Helen Reed has entered into matrimony.

Not really?

Yes, she is managing a Matrimonial Bureau.

Did I tell you about the circus I saw last month? Elizabeth Michener was the aerialist. She always did have rather high ideas. Dorothy Dreschsler and Gladys Wright sold Peanuts and Pop-Corn. Stuart Hadden and Eldon Ehringer were clowns. Why, I had no idea it was so late. Time surely does fly when you talk over old times. I may see you at the convention dinner this evening. Good-Bye.

GIFTATORY AND WILL OF THE CLASS OF '29

HELEN PRANGE, ELIZABETH MICHENER

To the Class of '29 and Friends assembled here:

This box containing numerous articles, was brought to us yesterday, and we were asked to distribute, on Class Day, the contents among the prominent members of our class. We hope that our judgment directs us to bestow the gifts upon the persons most well adapted.

This can of string BEANS certainly must be for none other than Joe Stevenson. Everyone knows he has a weakness for BEANS, even if this isn't his particular brand.

Next we wish to present Ann Merrill with this small box of GIBSON'S molding clay with which she may make all the poses her heart desires.

My word!!—now we find a donkey, whom can this be for?—well, why not give it to Frank Phelps, to relieve him of the great burden of always “kicking” in his life to come, living in the “KINGS” palace.

And whom can this “DERBY” be for? We didn't know there were any gentlemen among us, but we'll give it to Wesley Covell, for he seems quite embarrassed, as if a guilty conscience were bothering him.

These two kettles must be for Marie Prange, and Donna Gruel, probably to remind them of all the “hot dogs” they cooked at the Monroe Football game.

Whom may this book be for? The title is: “How to Propose”; it is guaranteed to be successful if thoroughly memorized. Perhaps our most bashful boy may derive some benefit from it, so we'll just give it to Alexander Pasko, who in his turn may pass it on to Clifford Hassett, Clifford, as we all know, will soon be needing it.

Nine chances out of ten these miner's implements will best suit Jeanette Everiss. On behalf of the class we'll say that we hope she will be fortunate enough to make a “Lucky Strike” in the “Old Gold” fields. We ask that she will please pass them on to her friends.

Very seldom is a new spring outfit given away, but tonight we are going to give Ferdinand Anderson this outfit. (Rubber heels). We ask the girls not to be jealous.

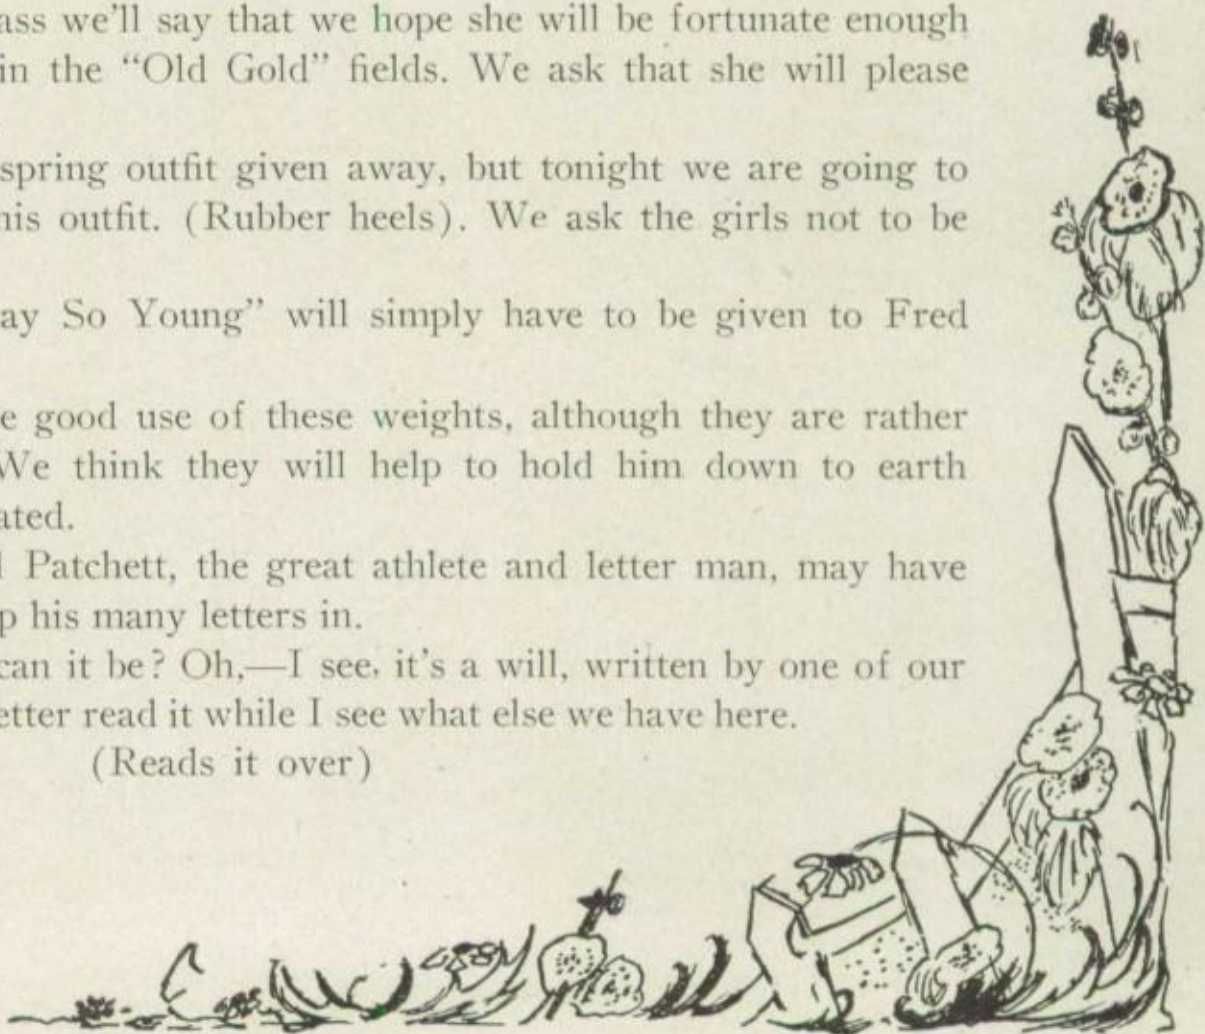

This book, “How I Stay So Young” will simply have to be given to Fred Hopper.

Richard Egan can make good use of these weights, although they are rather insufficient for the cause. We think they will help to hold him down to earth where he is greatly appreciated.

Our president, Wendell Patchett, the great athlete and letter man, may have use for this letter box to keep his many letters in.

Here's a paper,—what can it be? Oh,—I see, it's a will, written by one of our members; perhaps you had better read it while I see what else we have here.

(Reads it over)

My word !!!!! here's something interesting. Geraldine Stanley bequeaths her privilege of going with the big football star to Thelma Baker, who already has a good start. (Of course you all know we mean "Eddie").

Marguerite Brown gives her right to wander around study hall at all times to any eligible young freshman, or junior.

Just listen to this sarcasm—Carrol Cook, Vincent Currin, Ben Butler and Rockwell Scharer leave their eagerness to attend all school activities to other such sportsmen as themselves among the juniors and freshmen.

Martha Curtis, Pearl Mulnix, Margaret Tubbs, Marian Bone, Silvera Turnwald and Kholetta Kuhn are leaving their past eager attentiveness in classes to on-coming freshmen.

Hazel Guest is giving her unlimited amount of smiles and dimples to Virginia Wyatt.

Maxine Maynard leaves her wonderful school spirit to anyone who can use it to as good advantage as she did.

Roberta Pierce grants her great art of bluffing to any freshman, who may at any time be in need of it.

Christ Christodoulou, Richard Drager and Emerson Whitcher leave their permanent waves to any one desirous of them.

And just listen to this, of all the impossibilities—Alberta Weldrick, Thelma Becker, Marguerite Wiley, Alice Bush and Elizabeth VanDoren leave their giggling habit to Rachel Beal and Doris Benjamin—while Marian Cochranne and Ethel Spaur leave their profound dignity to Charlotte Hanover and Helen Wagner.

George Leute leaves his over-abundance of knowledge to Paul Sauter. May he make good use of it, and like George, graduate ahead of time.

Mildred Emert wants Maxine Franklin to have her grit, and nerve, so she too, can dig through Senior year.

The three great orators of our class, Blanche Gordon, Ruth Sherman and Jane Frost, leave the honors they have received in oratory to Jessie King, and Beth Lowry.

Olen Iffland wills his secret for making girls love him to Paul Ryan, who may in turn pass it on to Robert Retter and Henry Miller.

Warren Babcock gives his musical talent to Clarence Judson.

Delilah Parker and Bertha Staup bequeath their naturally wavy hair to Dorothea Betz.

Howard Rowley leaves his winning way to Kenneth Meeker.

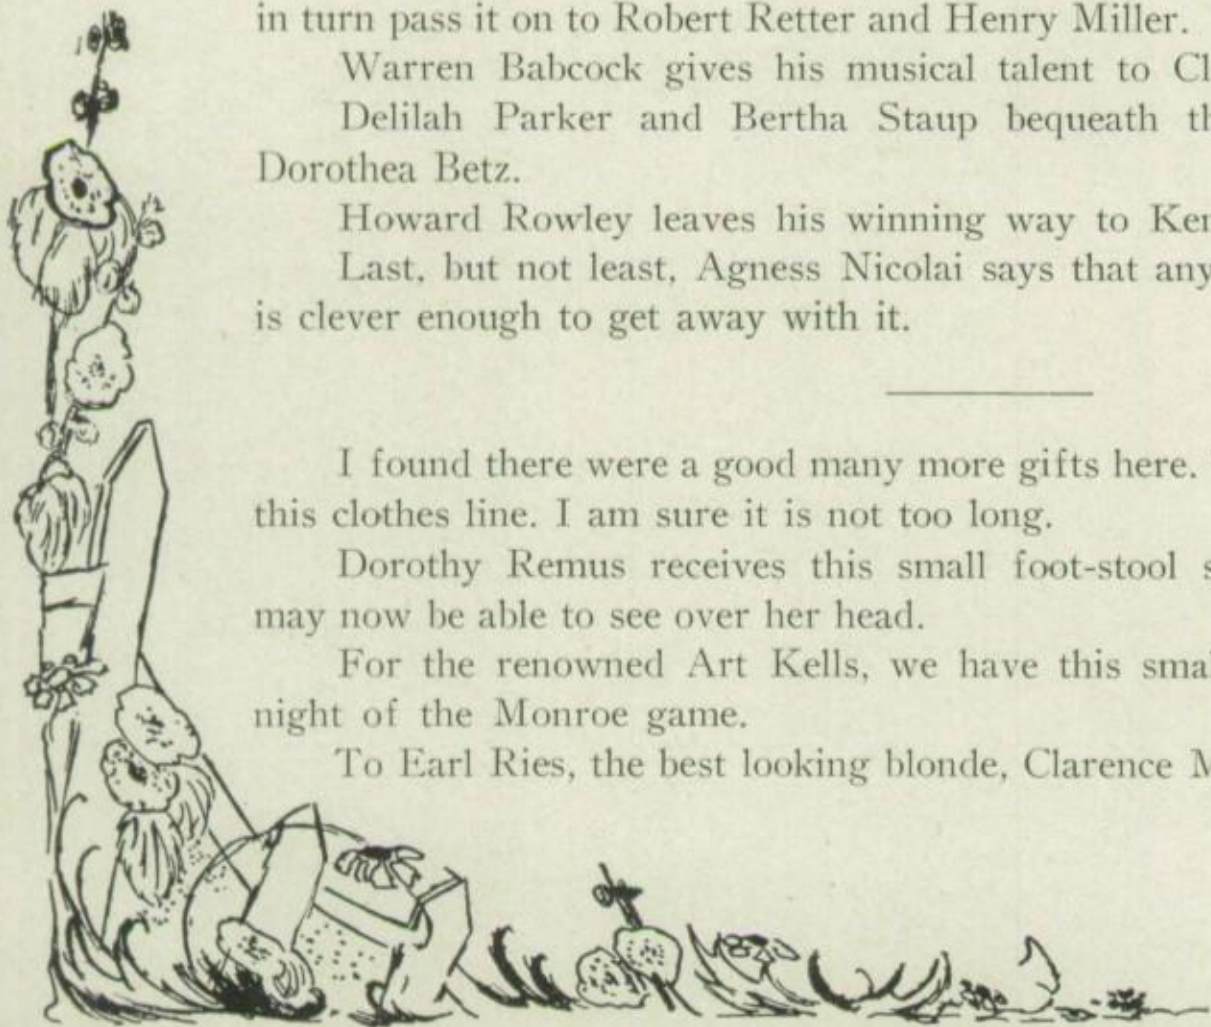

Last, but not least, Agness Nicolai says that any one may have her line, that is clever enough to get away with it.

I found there were a good many more gifts here. To Margaret Church we give this clothes line. I am sure it is not too long.

Dorothy Remus receives this small foot-stool so people sitting behind her may now be able to see over her head.

For the renowned Art Kells, we have this small tub to remind him of the night of the Monroe game.

To Earl Ries, the best looking blonde, Clarence Matthes, the best looking brunette, and Clarence Bush, the best looking red-head, in our class, we give these medals. (Safety Pins).

Just to remind George McKeighan of home, we give him "Another Dog".

If Eloine Rockwell will put this bell around her neck, we'll be able to hear her once in a while.

Maybe George Nelson can make good use of this book "How to Whisper In an Undertone".

Ruth Nicoline may be glad to get this handkerchief, we feel sure if handkerchief dresses come in style again, she can easily get one out of this.

To the Editor-in-Chief, Byron Vedder, we present this small sickle to remind him of the hours spent in hard work.

"Al" Wickham may appreciate this book, on "How I Water-wave My Hair So Beautifully"—and for Earl Leininger we have this small pair of trousers, they probably meant for the "little" boy of our class.

Verga Damon may have this bow-tie to add to her collection.

We feel that Herbert Beck could make good use of this axle-grease to loosen up his joints.

Our valedictorian, Maitlè Derby, may appreciate this book, "How To Act In College".

To Charles Woller, this "Dream Train" for future use.

This book, called "Usherettes", is meant for Mary Alice Younglove.

We think Chauncey Norton can use this "wee sweater", as his other one seems rather "holy".

Just a bottle of Pep-tona for Dolores Yeutter.

A large pair of rubber heels for Kenneth Casper, they have shock absorbers on them.

We want to give this puppy to Lucille Hiftline, so she can name it "Bessie" for sake of remembrance.

We are sorry to say that we could not get a "Butler" for Irene Sword.

In Conclusion—we give much thanks to our parents, and teachers for having thoughtfully guided us through school.

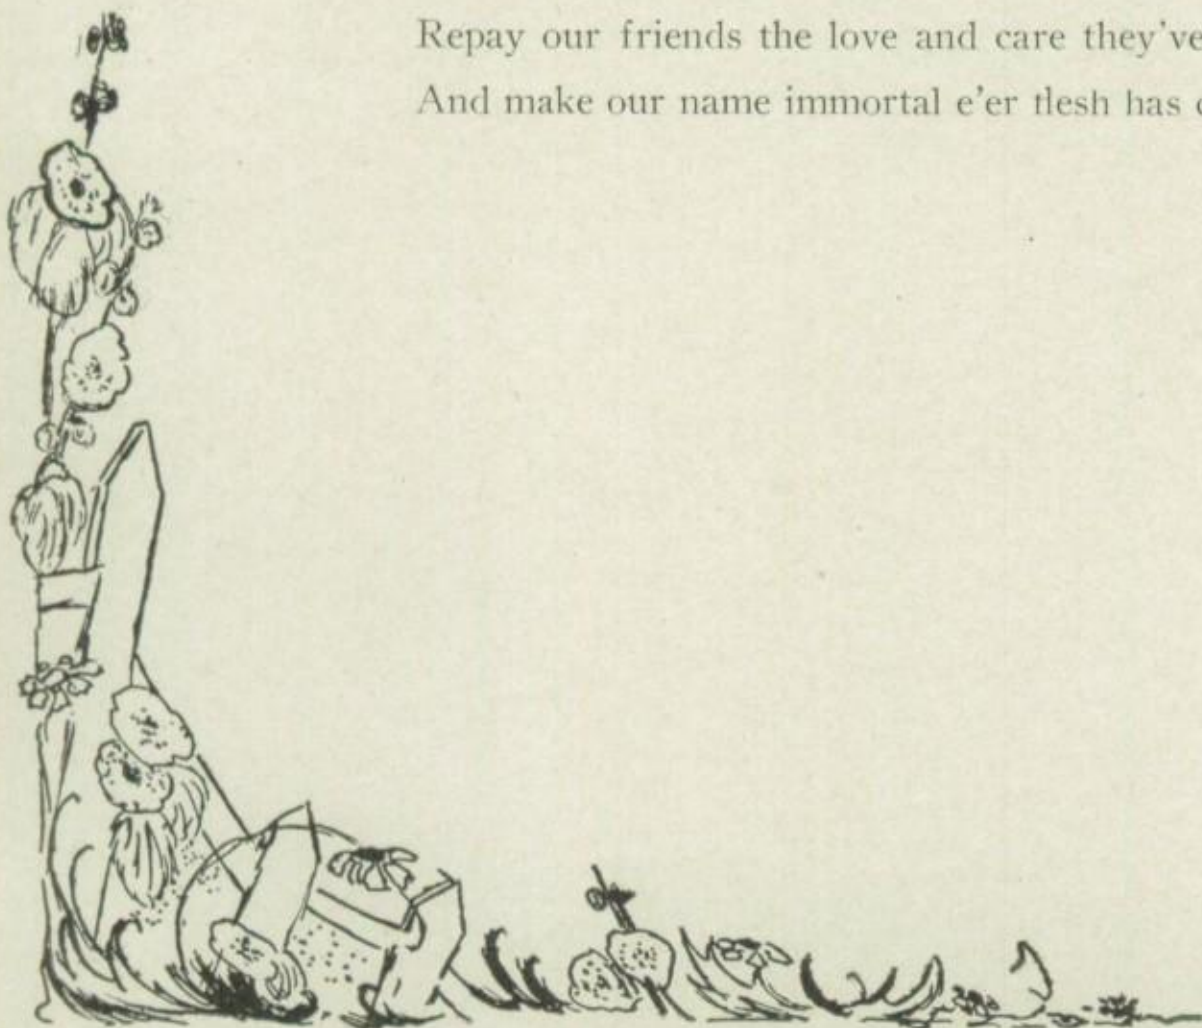

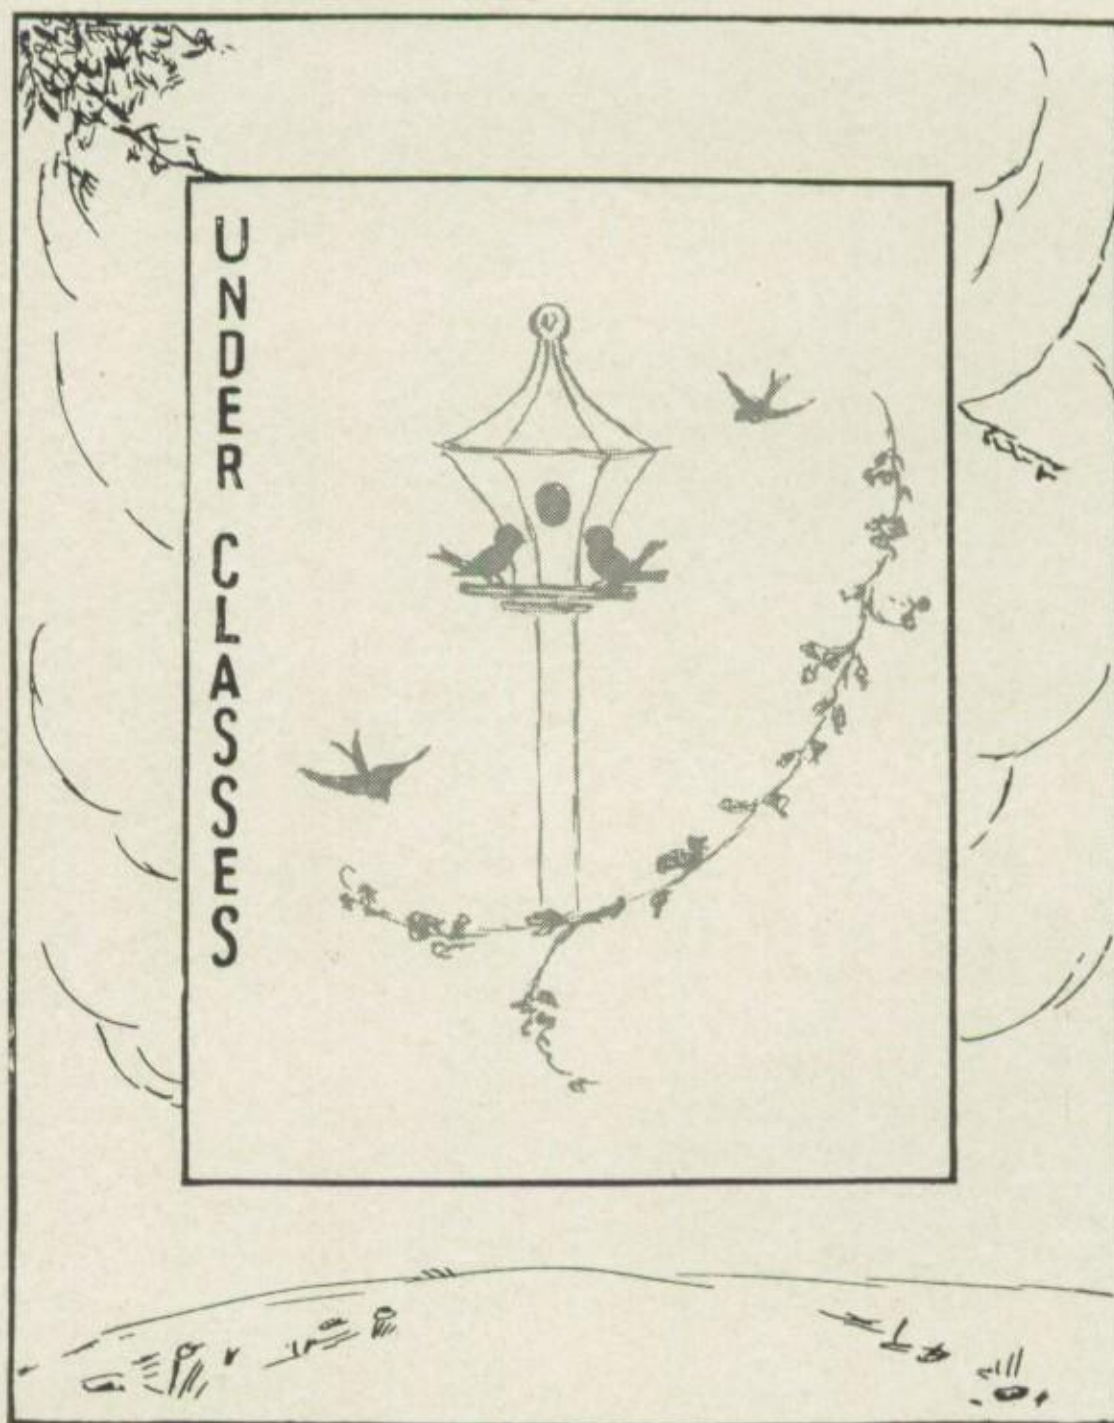

CLASS POEM

TOMORROW WE WILL MEET AGAIN

CHRIST CHRISTODOULOU

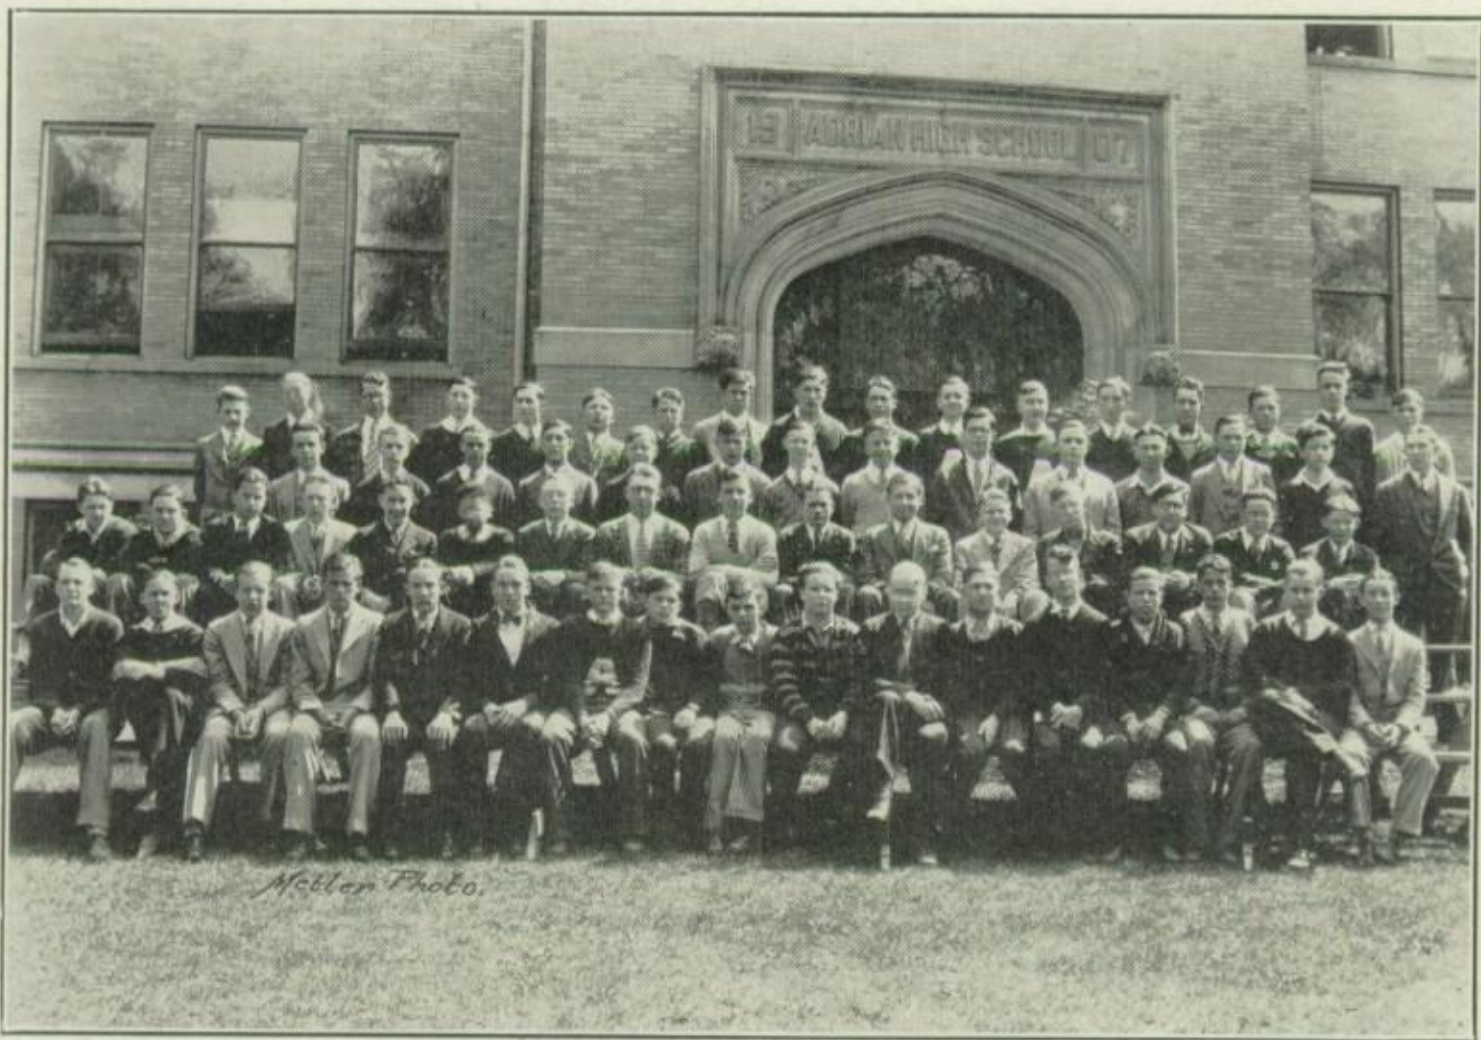

Is the day ended, the sun to shine no more,
Or will he shine more brightly on a new freedom's shore?
Song birds' notes now silenced, never to be heard,
Or will a new peace reign to make music of the birds—
To raise our hopes to the ethereal skies,
And carry within our saddened hearts minds listful prize?
Ah friends, dear lone hearts sublimest happiness,
The sun will never cease to shine, leaving dampness
To hoard our wealth of hopes; tho tonight we part
Tomorrow we will meet again, bound as in the past
With iron chains of friendship, battle cruel earth,
Change her cold, passionless tears to everlasting mirth,
Repay our friends the love and care they've shed on us,
And make our name immortal e'er flesh has changed to dust.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

"JUST another Freshman Class" said the Juniors and Seniors as we entered their midst in the fall of 1927. With this rather uncertain welcome we began our high school life, determined to show them that our class would try to do "bigger and better" things than the past or future classes of Adrian School.

UNCERTAIN at first as to our exact place in the life of this organization we struggled bravely and during our first year many of our number were the recipients of honors in athletics, music and other fields. Having paved the way we returned in 1928 to travel on our road to success.

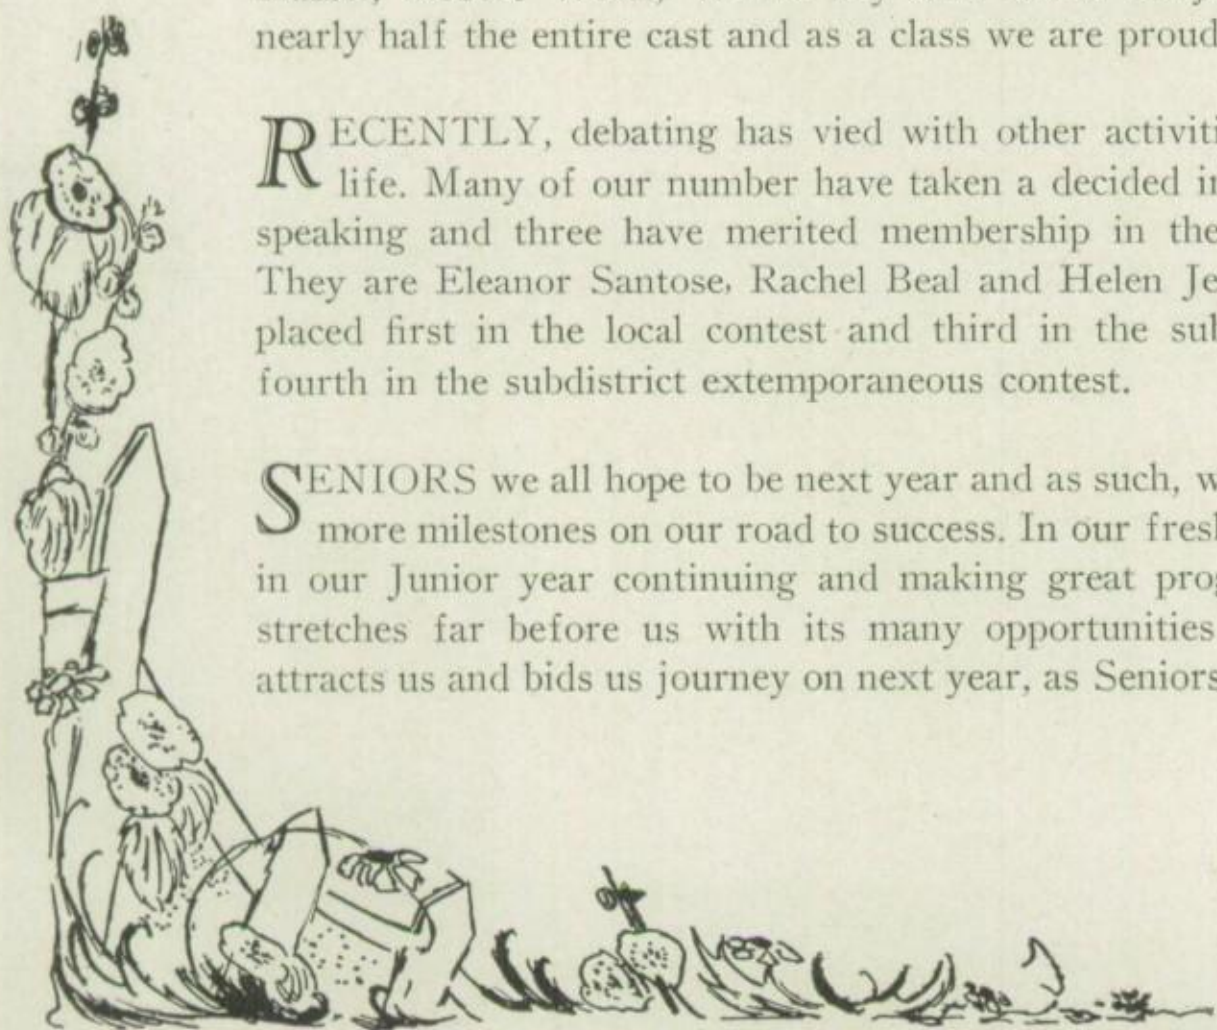

NOT a phase of school life has been neglected or slighted by members of our class. In the annual Temperance essay contests, several of us have won the honors. This year we are proud of Rachel Beal and Eleanor Santose, in that they won first and second prizes respectively. The success of the Senior Send-Off—the Juniors annual responsibility—proved our versatility and the ability of those in charge of the entertainment.

INTEREST in Athletics has been very decidedly shown by the large number of our members who took part in various sports. Several of them, Paul Sauter, Edward Fisher, Henry Miller, James Butler and Lewis Smith gained special recognition by admittance into the National Athletic Association, an honor earned by athletic ability coupled with better than average scholarship.

OUR annual operetta this year had as members of the cast seven pupils from the class of '30. They were Theodore Koltz, Robert Retter, James Butler, Oscar Russel, Robert Wood, Wilma Bly and Doris Benjamin. This number included nearly half the entire cast and as a class we are proud of this representation.

RECENTLY, debating has vied with other activities for prominence in school life. Many of our number have taken a decided interest in this form of public speaking and three have merited membership in the National Forensic League. They are Eleanor Santose, Rachel Beal and Helen Jenne. Also, in oratory, Helen placed first in the local contest and third in the subdistrict and Eleanor placed fourth in the subdistrict extemporaneous contest.

SENIORS we all hope to be next year and as such, we aim to put behind us a few more milestones on our road to success. In our freshman year we paved the way, in our Junior year continuing and making great progress on this road and as it stretches far before us with its many opportunities something more than duty attracts us and bids us journey on next year, as Seniors.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

FOR several years, we, the class of 1931, had been anticipating entering Senior High School after successfully completing our Junior High School work. Having determination, we set out to show the upper-classmen what we could do.

REVIEWING our season in football, we find that many of our boys received their triple A's and Kenneth Meeker was presented with the well-deserved Big "A". We hope that the training that these boys have received this year will make it possible for them to contribute much toward the success of the 1929-30 football team.

EACH winter interest in basketball is keen, and this winter was no exception. One of our number, Ben Gillies, distinguished himself by playing forward and he received the Big "A".

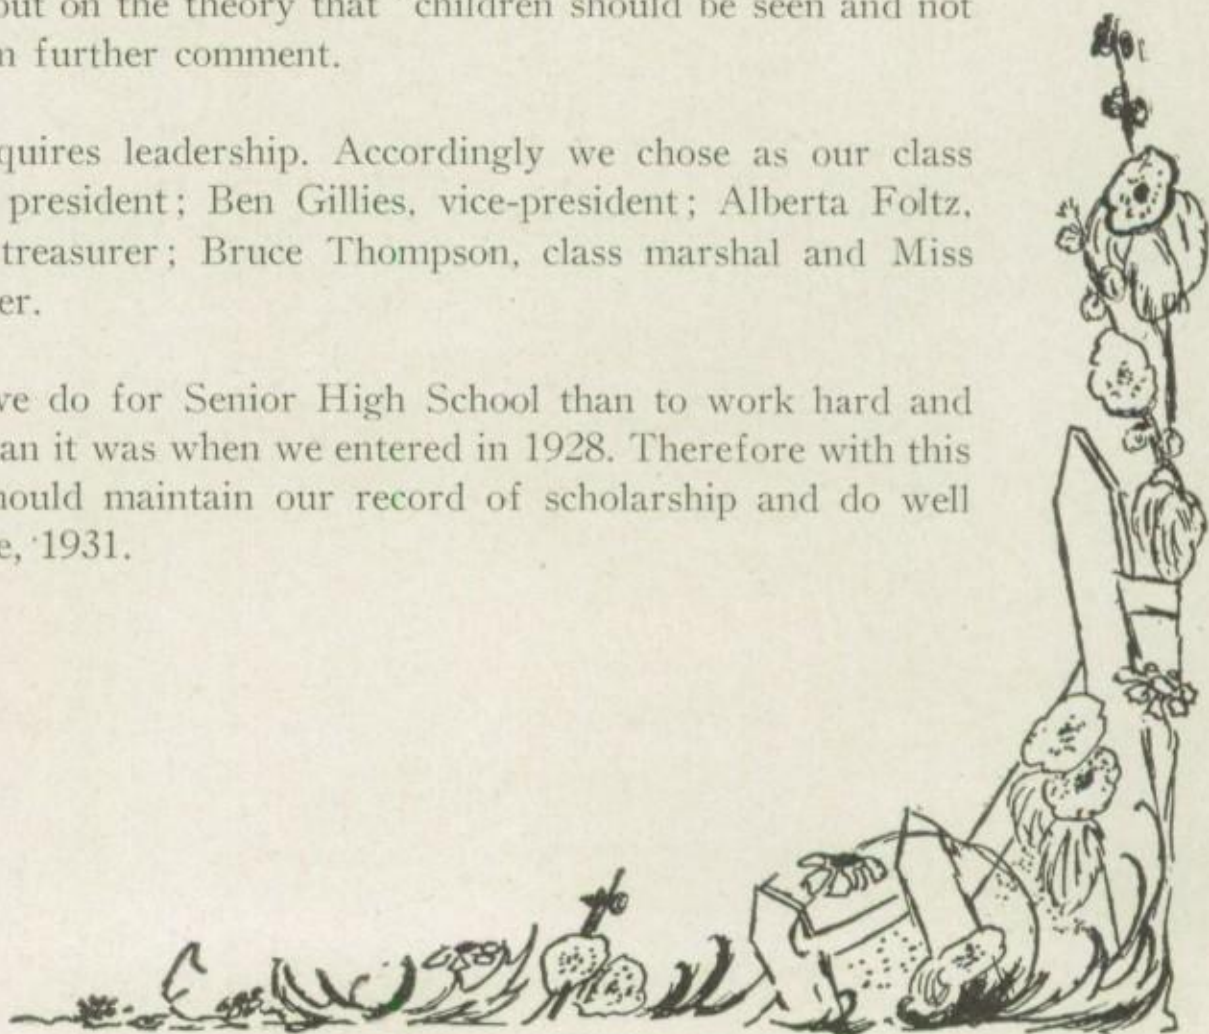

SO much has been said about our annual operetta that we feel that we should not leave out the names of Kleone Billings and Dorothy Close. They were the only freshman girls to have principal parts, and they brought much credit to our class by their pleasing performances.

HOWEVER, athletics and music are not the only spheres of activity which have profited by the services of our class. Allen Cleveland, Arthur Corser, Robert Harris, Alice Jane Knight, Margaret Henninger and Edward Nelson have taken part in dramatics.

MANY more noteworthy accomplishments could be mentioned to the credit of the class of 1931, but on the theory that "children should be seen and not heard", we will refrain from further comment.

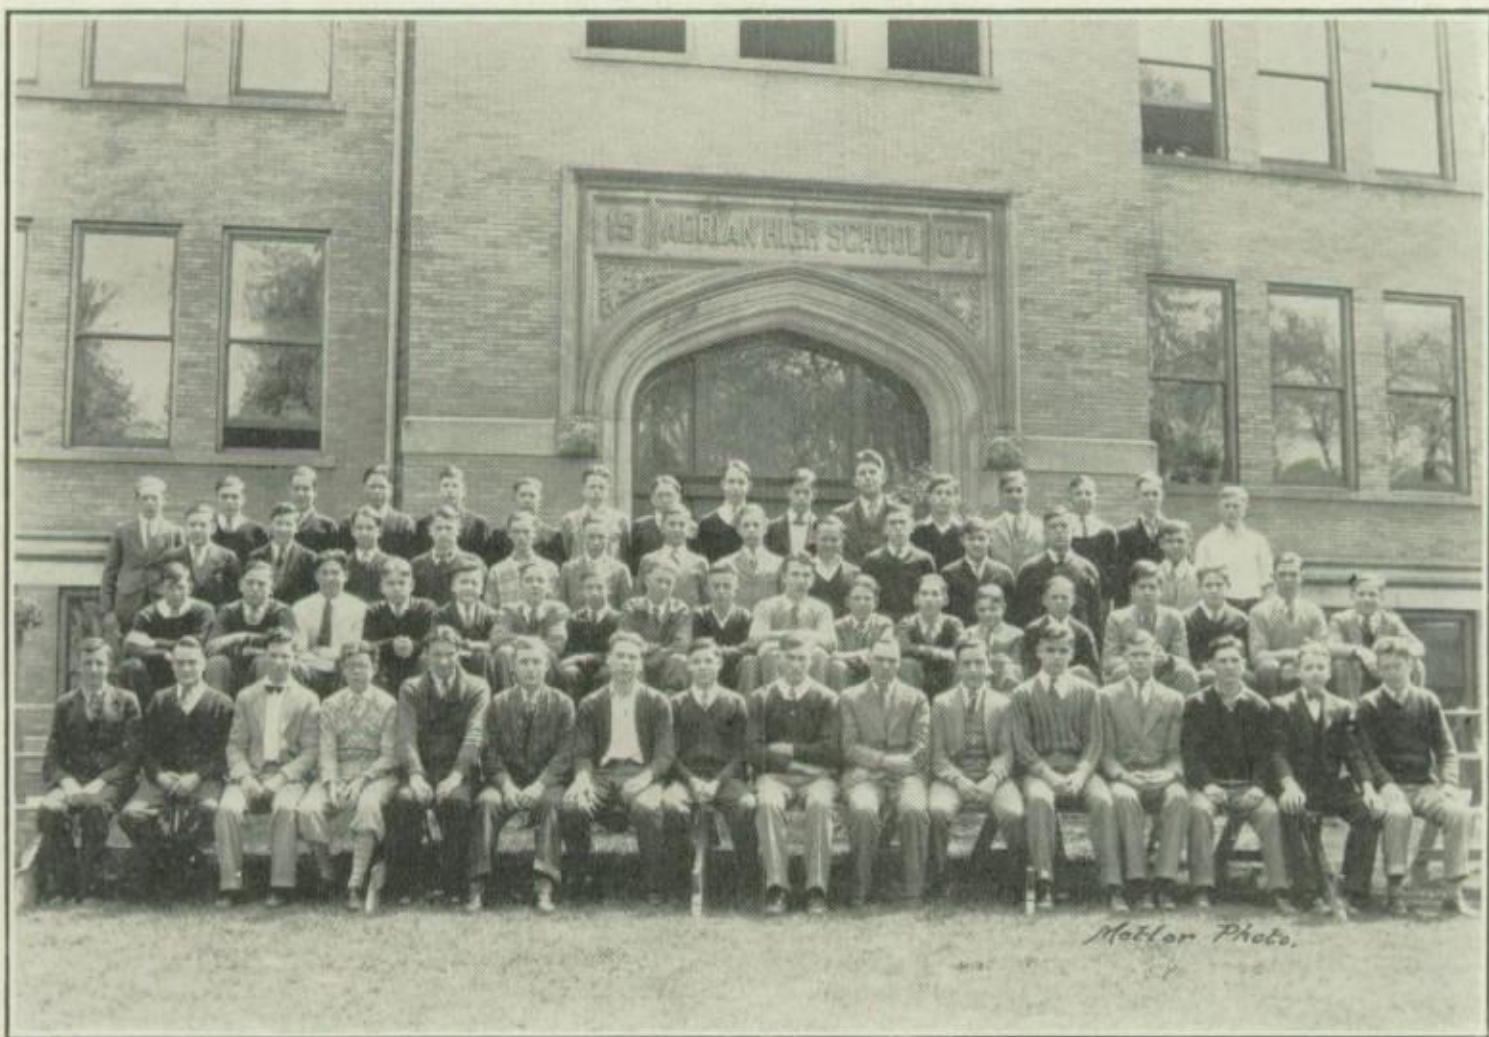

EVERY organization requires leadership. Accordingly we chose as our class officers: John Rorick, president; Ben Gillies, vice-president; Alberta Foltz, secretary; Lloyd Ruesink, treasurer; Bruce Thompson, class marshal and Miss Marjorie Field, Class Adviser.

NOTHING better can we do for Senior High School than to work hard and leave it a little better than it was when we entered in 1928. Therefore with this start in High School we should maintain our record of scholarship and do well until our graduation in June, 1931.

FOOTBALL TEAM

SECOND TEAM

FOOTBALL

COACH Kelly's call for football candidates was answered by about thirty-five men. Due to injuries and ineligibility only three regulars from last year's team were left to form the nucleus of this year's eleven. The three weeks before the first game was spent in getting the men in condition and teaching them the fundamentals of the game. Keen rivalry was shown between the men for positions on the team.

The first game of the season was at Blissfield. Because of the greater experience of the opposing players, Adrian was defeated 33-0. The team although playing a losing game, never ceased to fight. Blissfield later became County Champions.

The next week Adrian traveled to Clinton. The team showed much improvement but Adrian was defeated 6-0. Clinton's touchdown was due to a blocked kick late in the game.

The third game was played with Wyandotte at Adrian at the dedication of the new Lincoln field. Rising to the occasion Adrian played real football and the game ended in a 6-6 tie. The punting of Adrian's captain was an important factor in this game.

Ann Arbor, our ancient rival, was next met on Adrian's field. By displaying a fine passing attack Adrian gave the opponents a real battle but were held to another 6-6 tie.

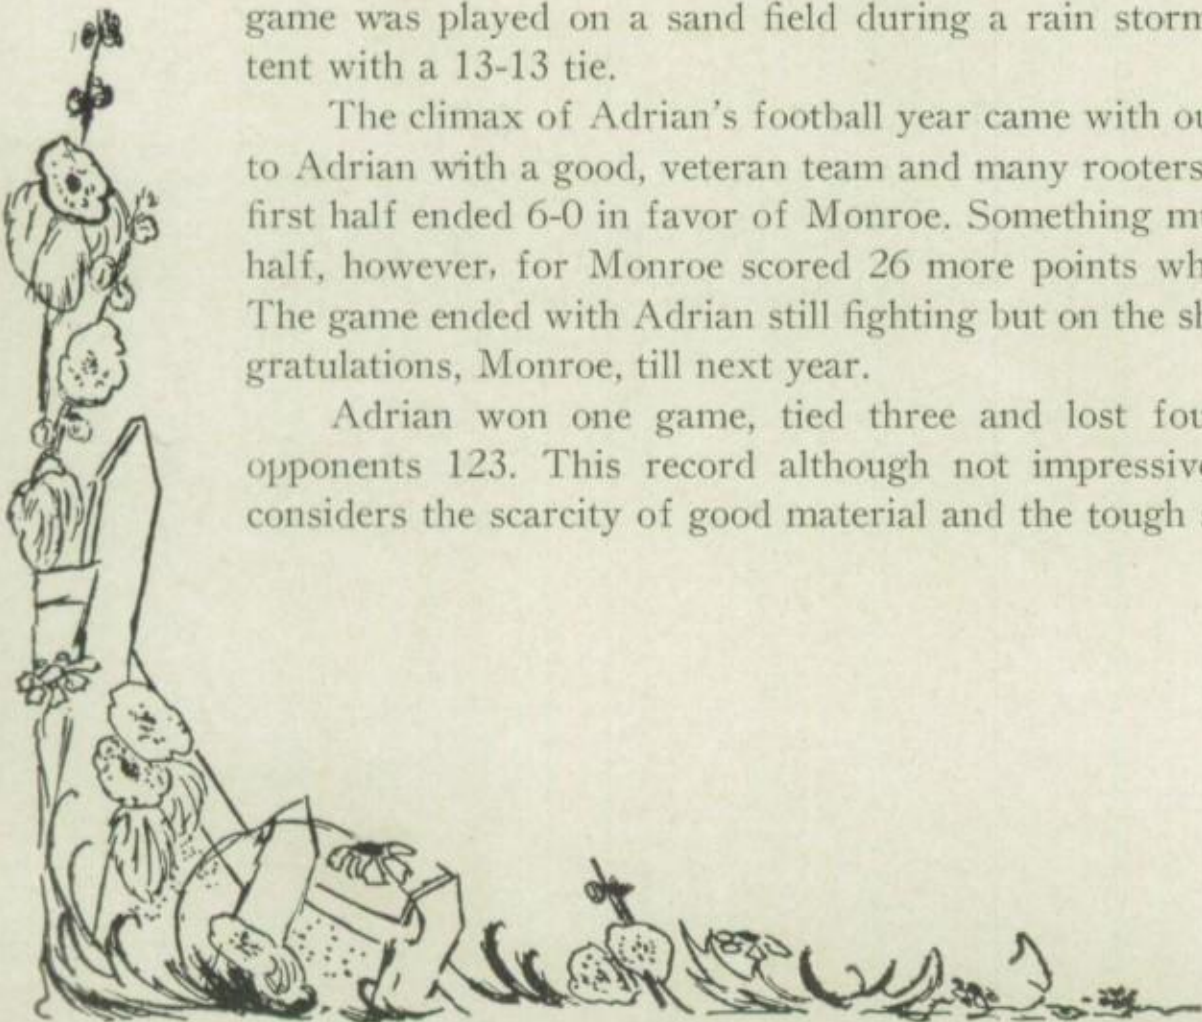

The next game was played with Ypsilanti at Adrian. The game was played on a field of mud, but Ypsi did not seem to mind the mud as much as Adrian and slipped through to a 20-0 victory.

Looking for the first win of the year, Adrian traveled to Morenci and were rewarded with a 39-6 win.

Hoping to continue their winning streak, Adrian journeyed to Hillsdale. The game was played on a sand field during a rain storm and Adrian had to be content with a 13-13 tie.

The climax of Adrian's football year came with our oldest rivals. Monroe came to Adrian with a good, veteran team and many rooters. Adrian fought hard and the first half ended 6-0 in favor of Monroe. Something must have happened during the half, however, for Monroe scored 26 more points while holding Adrian scoreless. The game ended with Adrian still fighting but on the short end of a 33-0 score. Congratulations, Monroe, till next year.

Adrian won one game, tied three and lost four, scoring 64 points to her opponents 123. This record although not impressive, deserves credit when one considers the scarcity of good material and the tough schedule that was played.

BASKETBALL

ABOUT twenty-five candidates responded to Coach Kelly's call for basketball players. Of this number only two men were letter men from last year. One of the letter men became eligible the second semester. From these men, a team was developed that won five out of fourteen games, scored 333 points to their opponents' 365, and for the first time in the history of the school, Adrian won a regional championship.

The first game of the season was played with Lambertville. Adrian won by a large score, 42-9.

The next week the team traveled to Wyandotte where they met a 40-24 defeat.

The team next went to Ann Arbor and were defeated 34-10.

Although showing much improvement, the team again met defeat on the Armory floor in the game with Coldwater. The score was close, 29-24.

On January eighth the team met Adrian's ancient rival, Monroe, and in a thrilling game lost out, 27-26.

Fordson was next played at the Armory and they were able to gain a 26-19 victory.

River Rouge played at Adrian next. Score 34-32 in favor of River Rouge.

A powerful team from Pontiac was next played on the Armory floor. The team was able to hold the visitors to a 39-23 score.

A strong team was encountered at Royal Oak and Adrian was forced to take a 23-16 defeat.

The last game of the regular playing season was with Birmingham. When the whistle ended the game, Adrian was on the long end of a 26-23 score.

Adrian this year playing in a class B District Tournament drew a bye for the first round of play.

In the second round of the tournament Adrian drew Monroe. For the second time of the season Adrian was defeated by Monroe, 34-24.

Adrian next played Plymouth for the right to enter the regional tournament and won by a 22-5 score.

In the first round of the regional play Adrian again drew a bye.

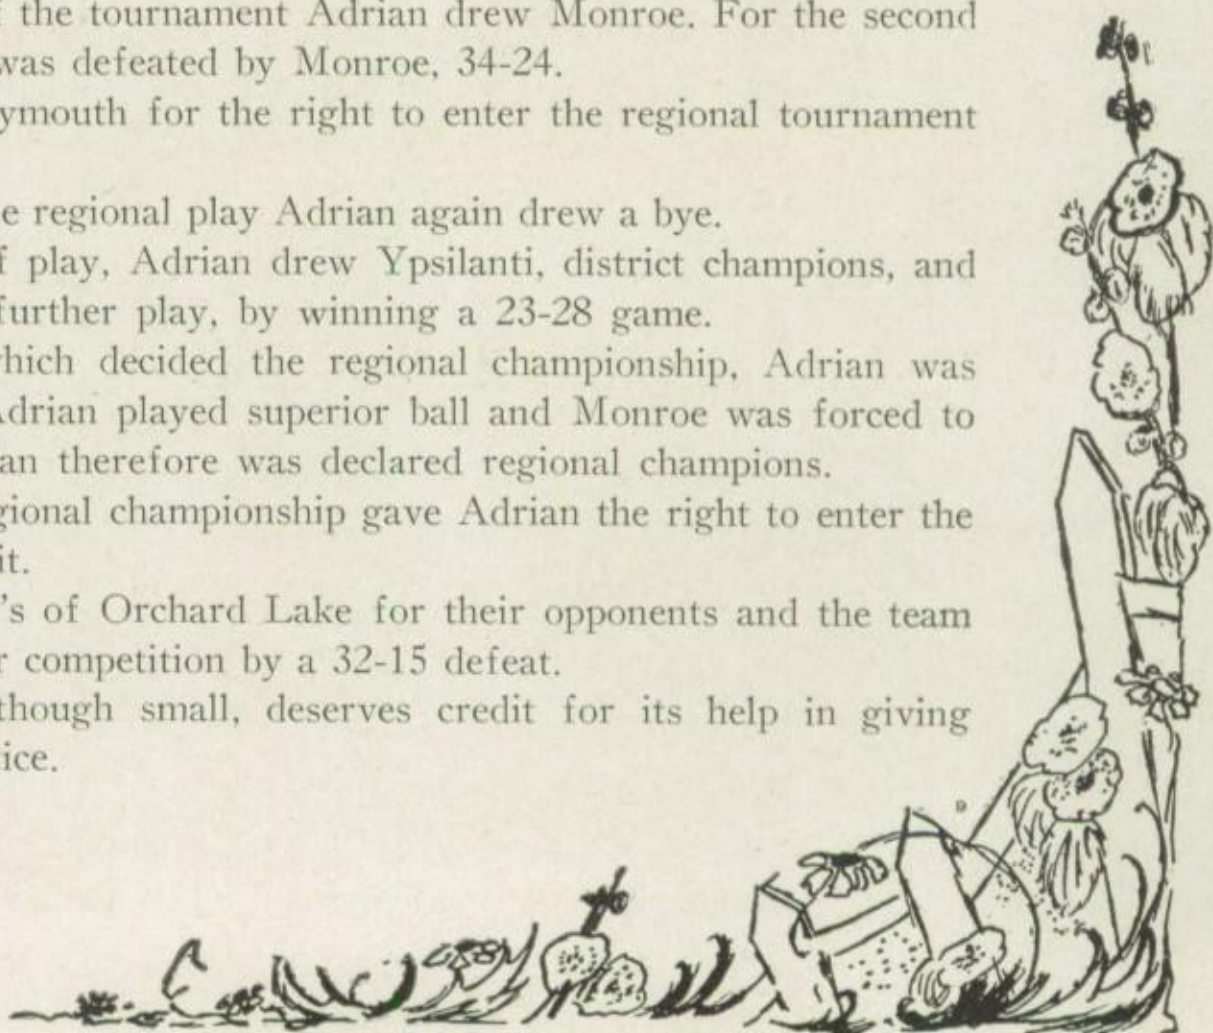

In the second round of play, Adrian drew Ypsilanti, district champions, and eliminated Ypsilanti from further play, by winning a 23-28 game.

In the final contest which decided the regional championship, Adrian was matched against Monroe. Adrian played superior ball and Monroe was forced to accept a 34-20 defeat. Adrian therefore was declared regional champions.

The winning of the regional championship gave Adrian the right to enter the State Tournament at Detroit.

Adrian drew St. Mary's of Orchard Lake for their opponents and the team was eliminated from further competition by a 32-15 defeat.

The reserve squad, although small, deserves credit for its help in giving the team opposition in practice.

BASEBALL

BASEBALL practice was not started as early as usual because of bad weather. With a veteran for nearly every position, a good team is looked for. A good schedule of 11 games has been arranged. To date the team has lost 4 games and has won one game.

The first game of the season was played with Blissfield. Adrian scored 6 runs the first inning but weakened in the later innings and Adrian was forced to take a 13-11 defeat.

The next game was played at Adrian with Hudson. Adrian had one bad inning and Hudson won 11-4.

The next opposition was furnished by Battle Creek. Adrian batters were unable to solve the Battle Creek pitching and took a 9-2 setback.

A return game was played with Hudson. The team showed marked improvement and gave Hudson a real battle. The game ended in a 5-1 defeat for Adrian.

TRACK

Coach Kelley's call for track men was responded to by about fifteen men. Intensive practice began at once and the team was soon rounded into good condition. Only three or four men are left from last year and the team does not seem to be as strong as in former years.

The first meet Adrian attended was the invitational meet at Ann Arbor, in which many strong teams were entered. Adrian took two second places in the trials, Meeker in the 100 yard dash and Wetherbee in the javelin throw. In the finals Wetherbee took first place in the javelin throw.

THE TEAM

R. Wetherbee	P. Ryan	J. Yaw	A. Kells
C. Matthes	L. Woerner	E. Ehinger	C. Kishpaugh
	J. Elliott	H. Hill

TENNIS

More interest in tennis was shown this year than ever before. T. I. Beddow was in charge of the team and he developed a good one.

The first match of the season was played with Tecumseh and Adrian was able to earn a victory.

A return match was played with Tecumseh. A stronger team was encountered than before and Adrian was defeated after a hard struggle.

THE TEAM

G. McKeighan (Capt.) E. Leininger R. Sharer C. Woller

GOLF

A fair amount of interest was shown in golf this year. The team practiced at the Country Club and developed some good playing.

So far there have been no matches scheduled for the golf team but later in the season there will probably be some.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

The physical training work for girls is largely confined at present to regular class work. However, girls' athletics have been carried on through the gymnasium class of girls. This group has appeared in connection with a physical training demonstration, giving at this time an exhibition of their work. This was Miss Carlson's first year with Senior High students and those registering in this work have enjoyed her tutorship exceedingly.

SICKLE STAFF FOR 1930

Following the usual custom, the members of the high school faculty appointed the three members to compose the Board for the 1930 yearbook. Pearl Johnson was selected to act as editor, Lyle Cole, business manager and James Butler, assistant business manager. The choice of the editorial staff will fall upon these boys. The Sickle Staff for the 1930 annual needs and deserves the support of all Adrian High School students, and a successful publication can be assured if they have this co-operation.

Vice-President	WENDELL PATCHETT
Secretary	EDWARD FISHER
Treasurer	R. O. LUSE
Marshal	JOHN GREGG
Football Manager	STANLEY PHIPPS
Basketball Manager	RICHARD DRAGER
Baseball Manager	NORMAN BROCK

THE Athletic Association this year had a fairly successful season. This success was due largely to Coach Kelley, R. O. Luse, T. I. Beddow and the officers of the association.

This was Adrian's first season in the Southeastern League and stiff opposition was encountered. Adrian teams always showed plenty of fight and were well backed by the student body. This association appreciated the efforts of those who attended the athletic contests. With a year's experience in the Southeastern League and a fine athletic field belonging to the school already opened for athletic competition, Adrian's prospects for the future are bright.

ORATORICAL ASSOCIATION

BYRON C. VEDDER

President	BYRON C. VEDDER
Vice-President	HENRY MILLER
Secretary	HELEN SLAYTON
Marshal	CLARENCE JUDSON
Manager	CHRIST CHRISTODOULOU

THE most successful year in the history of the Oratorical Association has been realized during this school term. A tag sale was conducted and the association letters awarded at two of the meetings.

The debating team this year composed of four—Fred Hopper, D. Eleanor Santose, and Byron C. Vedder with Chauncey Norton as alternate—more than succeeded in gratifying the hopes expressed for it at the beginning of the season. The team, defeating Ypsilanti, Wyandotte, Fordson and Ann Arbor in the preliminaries, entered the elimination debate series of the Michigan High School Debating League and was one of sixty-four schools to receive a wall-plaque trophy from the Detroit Free Press. It won the first elimination debate with Coldwater, but was defeated in the second by Royal Oak, last year's champions. Besides these regular debates about twelve schools were met in practice encounters.

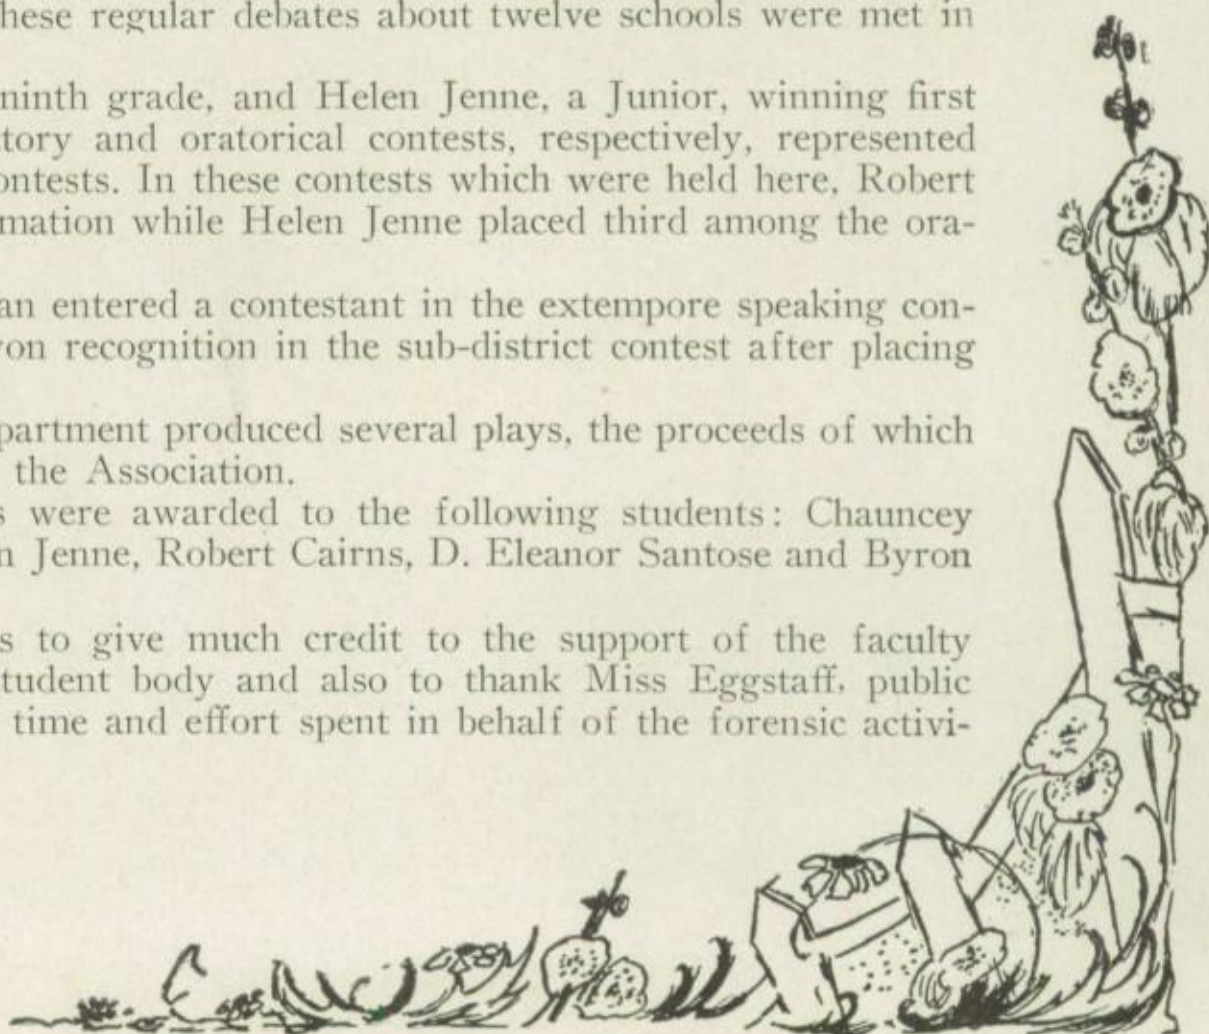

Robert Cairns, of the ninth grade, and Helen Jenne, a Junior, winning first places in the local declamatory and oratorical contests, respectively, represented Adrian in the sub-district contests. In these contests which were held here, Robert Cairns placed third in declamation while Helen Jenne placed third among the oratorical contestants.

For the first time Adrian entered a contestant in the extempore speaking contests. D. Eleanor Santose won recognition in the sub-district contest after placing first in the local contest.

The public speaking department produced several plays, the proceeds of which went to defray expenses of the Association.

The Association letters were awarded to the following students: Chauncey Norton, Fred Hopper, Helen Jenne, Robert Cairns, D. Eleanor Santose and Byron C. Vedder.

The Association wishes to give much credit to the support of the faculty and to that of the entire student body and also to thank Miss Eggstaff, public speaking instructor, for her time and effort spent in behalf of the forensic activities.

HI-Y CLUB

January 9, 1929, under the leadership of the Reverend W. Elbert Starn, the Hi-Y Club was organized with John Rorick as president, Fred Hopper as secretary, Ralph Knepper as treasurer, and Roy Olsen, Sergeant-at-arms. Other members of the club are: Ferdinand Anderson, Chauncey Norton, Richard Moore, Max Franklin, Edward Nelson, Edwin Howell, Herman Hill.

Mr. E. J. Reed and P. C. Sherman were the club sponsors. The Hi-Y Club, which is the connecting link between the Y. M. C. A. and the High School, has for its purpose:

To create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian Character. The Hi-Y Slogan is Clean Living—Clean Speech—Clean Scholarship—and Clean Athletics.

NATIONAL FORENSIC LEAGUE

ADRIAN CHAPTER NO. 250

President.....BYRON C. VEDDER
Secretary.....D. ELEANOR SANTOSE
Treasurer.....CHAUNCEY NORTON

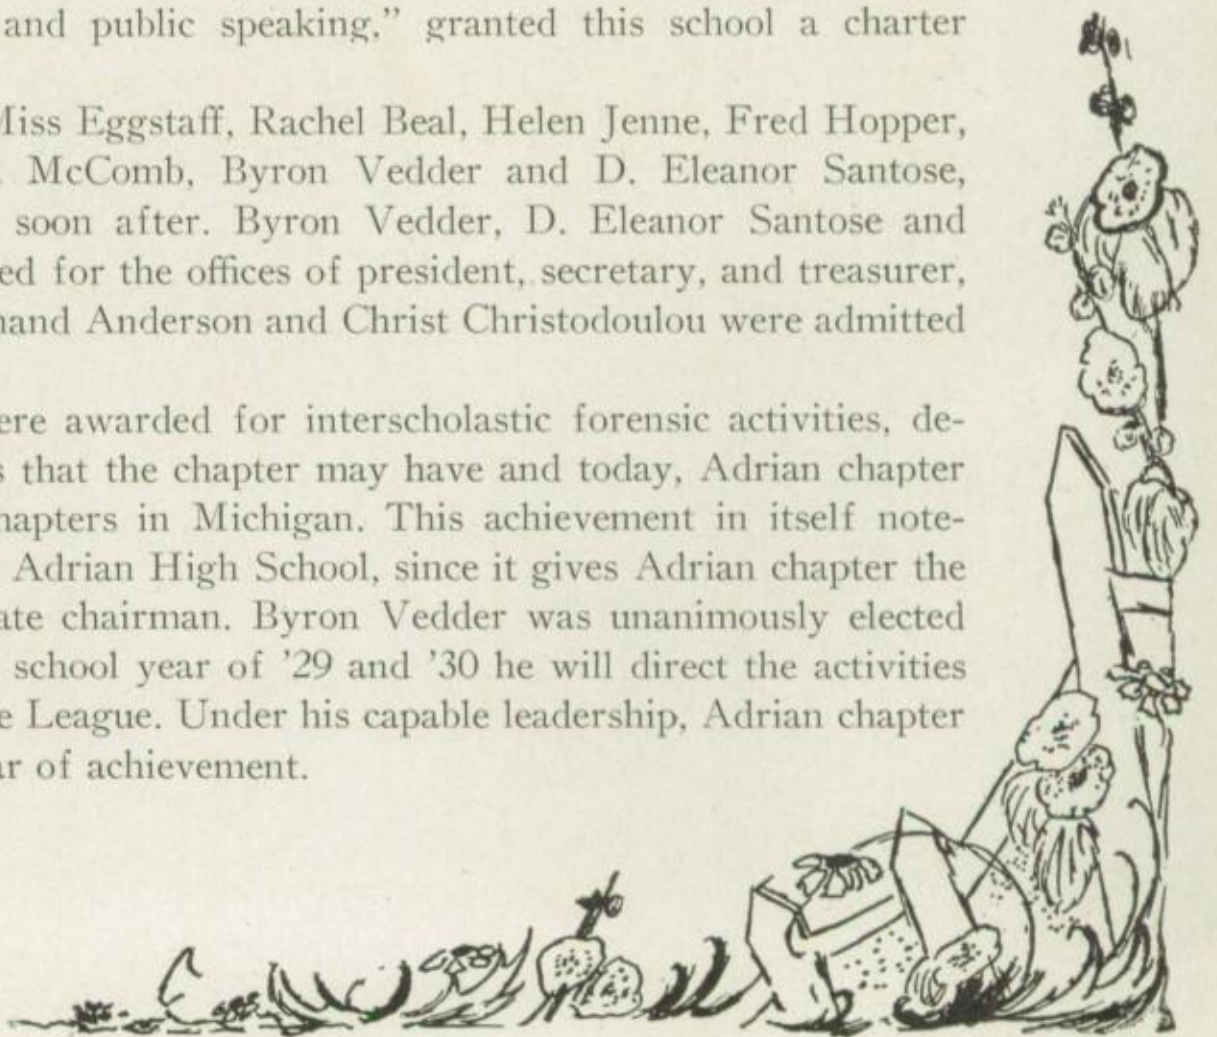

ALTHOUGH the forensic activities of this school were well supported by the student body and the faculty, further encouragement came from friendly rivalry among the member schools of the National Forensic League.

This league, established "to promote the interests of interscholastic debate, oratory, and public speaking," granted this school a charter November 2, 1928.

The charter members, Miss Eggstaff, Rachel Beal, Helen Jenne, Fred Hopper, Chauncey Norton, Virginia McComb, Byron Vedder and D. Eleanor Santose, organized the local chapter soon after. Byron Vedder, D. Eleanor Santose and Chauncey Norton were elected for the offices of president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively, and later Ferdinand Anderson and Christ Christodoulou were admitted as members.

Credit points, which were awarded for interscholastic forensic activities, determine the number of votes that the chapter may have and today, Adrian chapter ranks first among all the chapters in Michigan. This achievement in itself noteworthy, brings distinction to Adrian High School, since it gives Adrian chapter the privilege of choosing the state chairman. Byron Vedder was unanimously elected to this office and during the school year of '29 and '30 he will direct the activities of all Michigan schools in the League. Under his capable leadership, Adrian chapter looks forward to another year of achievement.

ACTIVITIES

DEDICATION OF ATHLETIC FIELD

The dedication of the new Lincoln Athletic Field was held October 19. Prior to the football game between Wyandotte and Adrian, a dedicatory address was given by Mr. Clarke E. Baldwin, president of the school board. Mr. Baldwin impressed upon the students the many advantages they have today in the athletics, music, etc. which were not offered to the students of earlier days. Adrian High School is to be congratulated on having, at last, a field for athletics which is comparable with other schools in its class.

BACCALAUREATE

Baccalaureate services, the first activity of Commencement Week, were attended by the Senior Class, June 9, at the Episcopal Church. An inspiring address was delivered by the Reverend Mr. Charles to the graduates of the class of 1929 and their friends.

SENIOR PICNIC

The Senior Picnic this year was held at the lake and the usual entertainment of outdoor sports and dancing was enjoyed. Refreshments were served and the class returned home after a very enjoyable day.

SENIOR SEND-OFF

The annual Send-off to the graduating class of 1929 was given on the evening of June 11, with the class of 1930 as hosts. The banquet was held at the Masonic Temple and was followed by an interesting program which was thoroughly enjoyed by the guests. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

CLASS-DAY

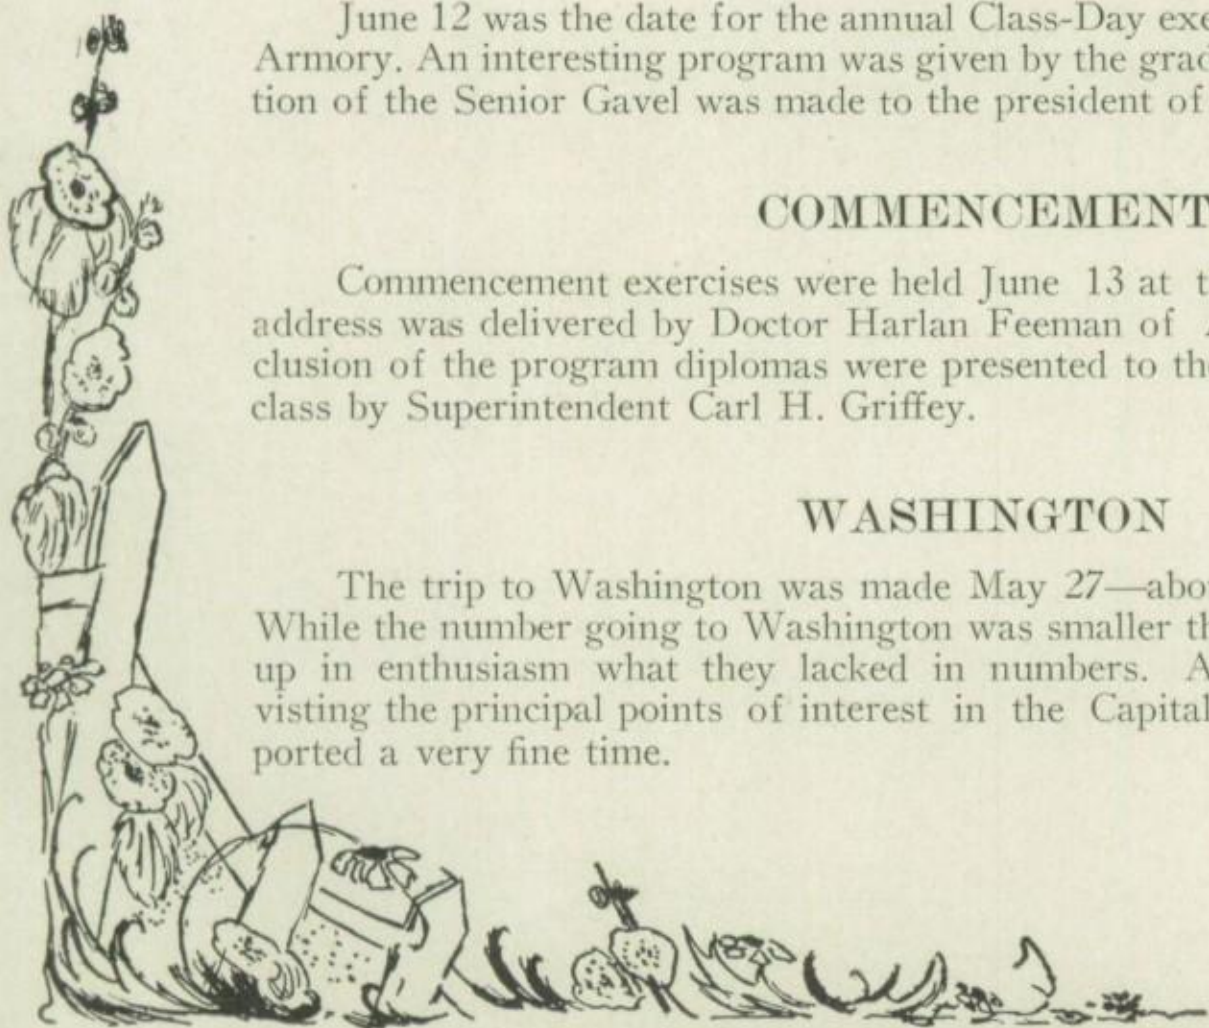

June 12 was the date for the annual Class-Day exercises which were held in the Armory. An interesting program was given by the graduates and the usual presentation of the Senior Gavel was made to the president of the class of 1930.

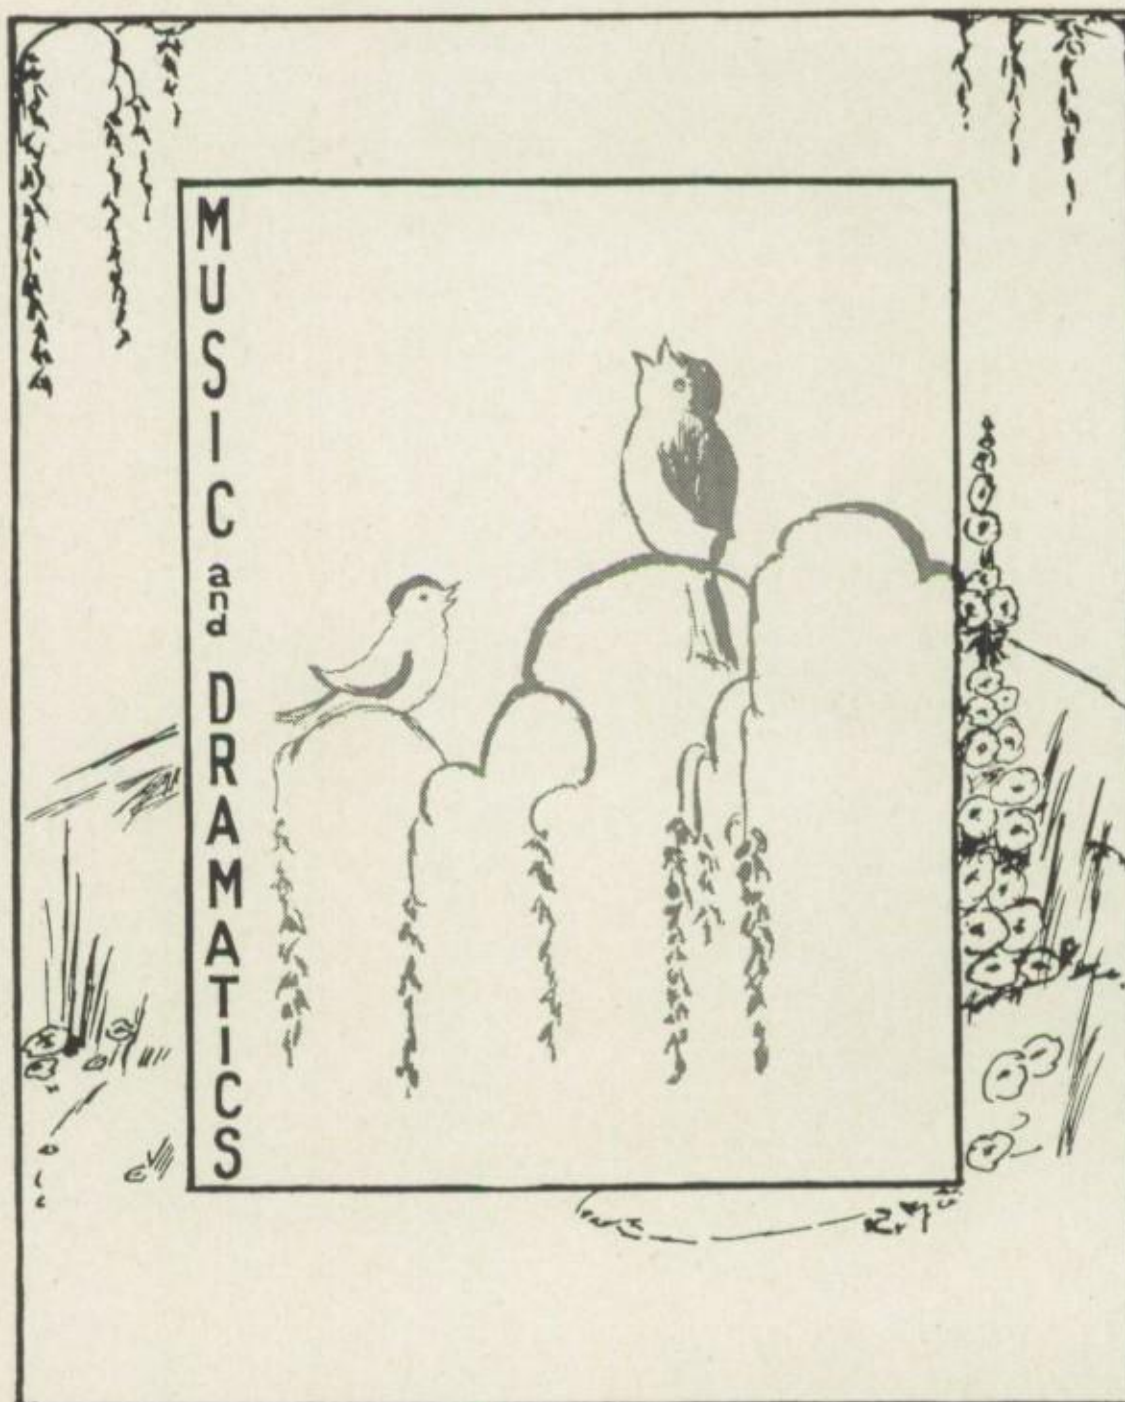

COMMENCEMENT

Commencement exercises were held June 13 at the Armory and a very fine address was delivered by Doctor Harlan Feeman of Adrian College. At the conclusion of the program diplomas were presented to the members of the graduating class by Superintendent Carl H. Griffey.

WASHINGTON

The trip to Washington was made May 27—about 80 seniors taking the trip. While the number going to Washington was smaller than in other years, they made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers. After spending four days in visting the principal points of interest in the Capital, they returned and all reported a very fine time.

MUSIC ORGANIZATION

THE year '28-'29 has marked a steady growth in the size and activities of the Music Organization. Much credit is due Mr. Hubbard for placing this club on its present status. For the first time, the band has become a curricular subject and is perhaps the most representative of the organizations. There is every indication of a growing organization in the future. Because of the increased size of the girls' glee club, two clubs were formed, a senior and a junior club.

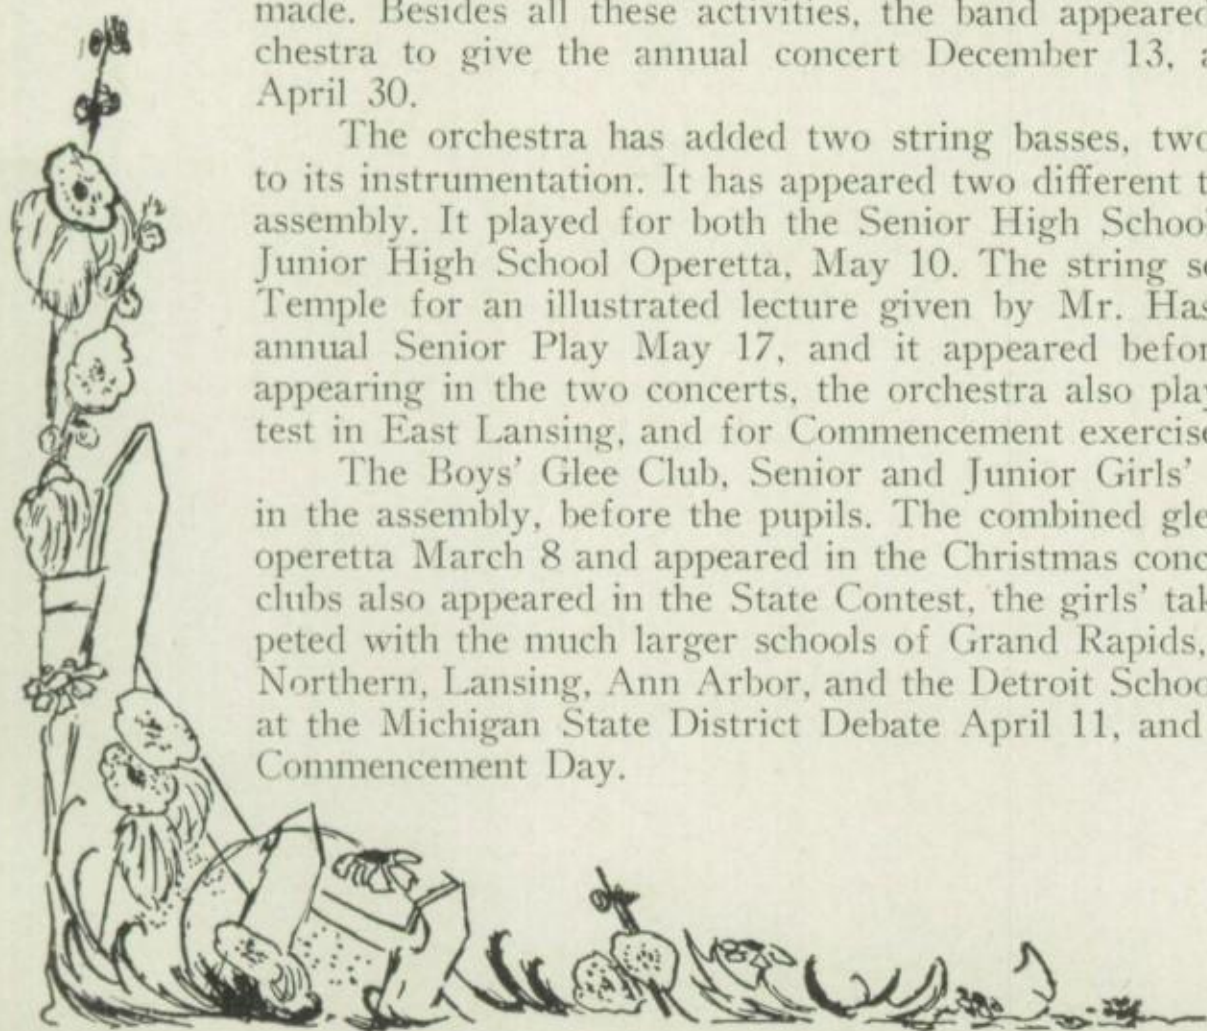

The music club elected for its officers: Byron Vedder, president; Warren Babcock, vice-president; Edon Thompson, secretary-treasurer; Henry Miller, business manager; Margaret Church, chairman of social committee and Jane Frost, chairman of Decorating committee.

This year the organization sent three members to the state orchestra in Ann Arbor. They were Leslie Kampa, bassoon; James Butler, string bass; and Warren Babcock, cello.

The activities this year have been numerous. The band, with its new uniforms, has taken an important position in community as well as school life. It has played before numerous pep meetings, and assemblies. It has played for football games and basketball games. It has played at the Garfield, McKinley, Jefferson and Lincoln schools. It has made two appearances before the Rotary Club. One of the most important engagements of the band was June 4. On that date it headed the Knights Templar in their parade at Benton Harbor at the state conclave. The band on April 29, accompanied the Rotarians to Detroit to play for the 23rd district convention held in the Hotel Statler. It also played at the Masonic Temple for installation of the Commandery of Knights Templar. The Band has also made trips to Monroe to play for the Boy Scout Jamboree and again to play for the Boy Scout Field Day. It also played at the Father and Son Banquet at the Y. M. C. A., May 7. The parades have been numerous and important. Besides parades to and from the football field the band appeared for the Knights Templar on Ascension Sunday, and again it occupied a prominent position in civic life on Memorial Day. During Progress Week, the band appeared three times, with their splendid uniforms making that week a happy review of the progress Adrian has made. Besides all these activities, the band appeared with the glee clubs and orchestra to give the annual concert December 13, and the pre-contest concert, April 30.

The orchestra has added two string basses, two French horns and an oboe to its instrumentation. It has appeared two different times before the High School assembly. It played for both the Senior High School Operetta March 8, and the Junior High School Operetta, May 10. The string section played at the Masonic Temple for an illustrated lecture given by Mr. Haskins. It also played for the annual Senior Play May 17, and it appeared before the Rotary Club. Besides appearing in the two concerts, the orchestra also played in the State Music Contest in East Lansing, and for Commencement exercises in June.

The Boys' Glee Club, Senior and Junior Girls' Glee Club have all appeared in the assembly, before the pupils. The combined glee clubs presented the annual operetta March 8 and appeared in the Christmas concert. The boys' and girls' glee clubs also appeared in the State Contest, the girls' taking second place. They competed with the much larger schools of Grand Rapids, Flint Central, Southern and Northern, Lansing, Ann Arbor, and the Detroit Schools. The Girls' Glee Club sang at the Michigan State District Debate April 11, and both boys and girls sang on Commencement Day.

The Brass Ensemble composed of Charles Schuneck, first trumpet; Roy Matthes, second trumpet; Byron Vedder, first horn; Edwin Howell, second horn; Warren Babcock, second baritone and Edward Nelson, tuba; played at the state music contest in East Lansing and won third place. They also played at the pre-contest concert and at the District Debate held April 11. McKinley school also enjoyed a program given by this group.

From these numerous activities one must realize that the music organization of Adrian High School has become one of the chief functions of civic and community life as well as of school life.

OPERETTA

OPERETTA

PROBABLY the most picturesque and colorful operetta ever yet given was enacted in the annual production on March 8. "The Bells of Capistrano", an operetta in three acts by Charles Wakefield Cadman, was presented in the armory before a capacity house.

The costumes were especially fine and they represented the colorful garb of the late 19th century, both in the cast of sixteen members and in the cowboy chorus and special girls' chorus of twenty-four dancers. The sextette, a feature of the operetta, was also cleverly costumed in keeping with the period.

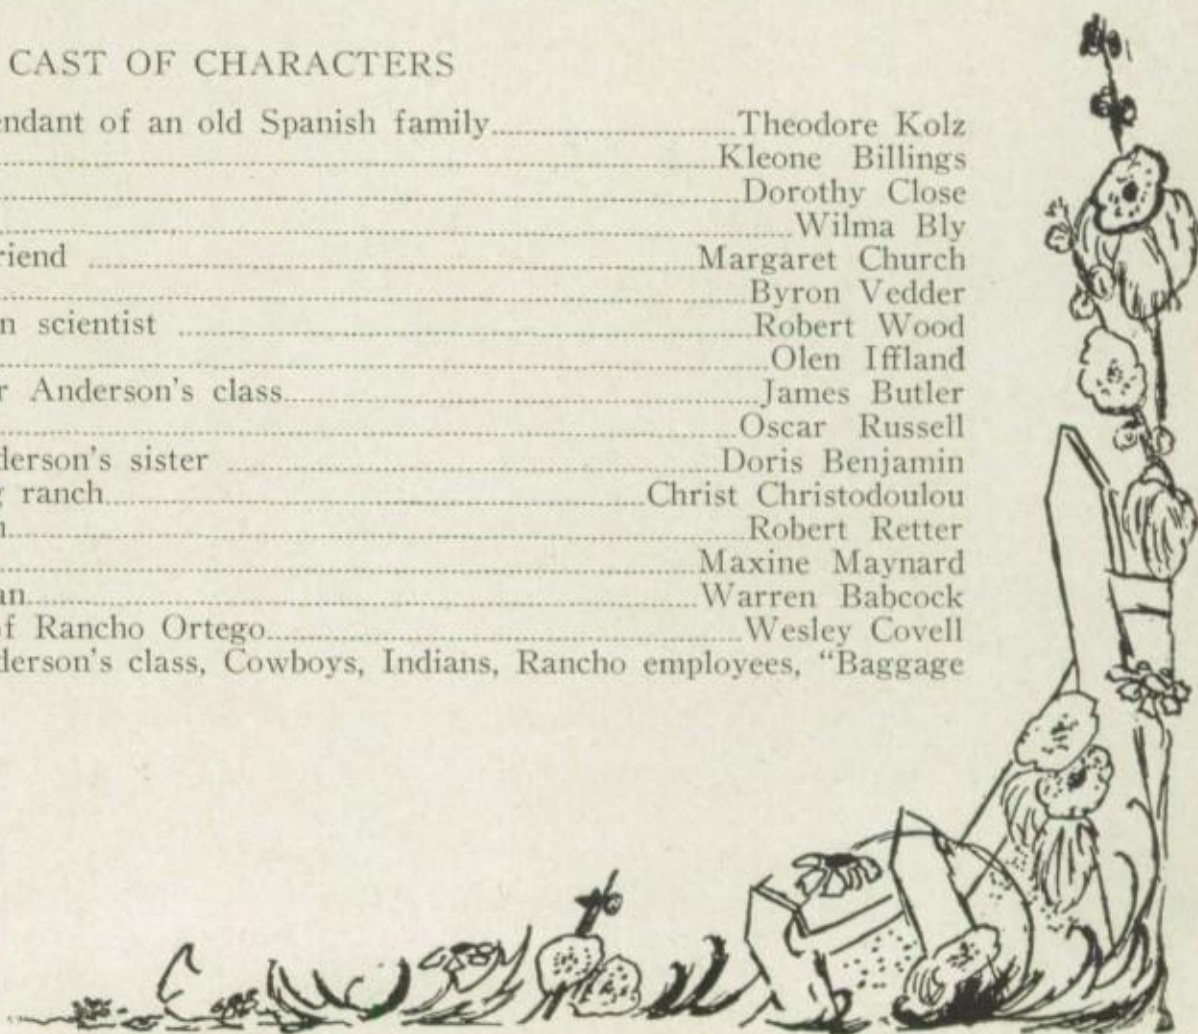

The argument centered around the mystic disappearance of cattle from the Rancho Ortego and the curse inflicted on the ranch and Capistrano Mission that should be lifted only when the bells of the Mission should ring again. Jake Kraft, who holds the mortgages of the ranch against the owner, Ramon, urges Pose, the Indian Medicine man, to steal the cattle. Noneeta, a servant in the Ortego household, over-heard the conversation and reported it to Lone Eagle, a chief whom she loves. He promises to bring them back on the night of the first full moon at the risk of being sentenced to death as a traitor to his tribe.

In the meanwhile Professor Anderson, Laura, and students arrive. Three of the boys fall in love with the Ortego sisters. Marian, a college friend of the Ortegos, arrives with her father, Mr. Alden, who has been sent to restore the Mission.

Word comes that the herd has been stolen. Noneeta explains that if the bells were to ring the curse would be lifted. Marian discovers a map of a rich gold mine in an old painting. The mortgages are about to fall due when Noneeta evades the sullen Indians who guard the mission and causes the bells to ring. Lone Eagle brings back the herd and Ramon promises restoration of their land to the Indians.

SENIOR PLAY

SENIOR PLAY CAST

HE melodramatic farce, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," by George M. Cohan, was the Senior Play given at the Armory the evening of May 17.

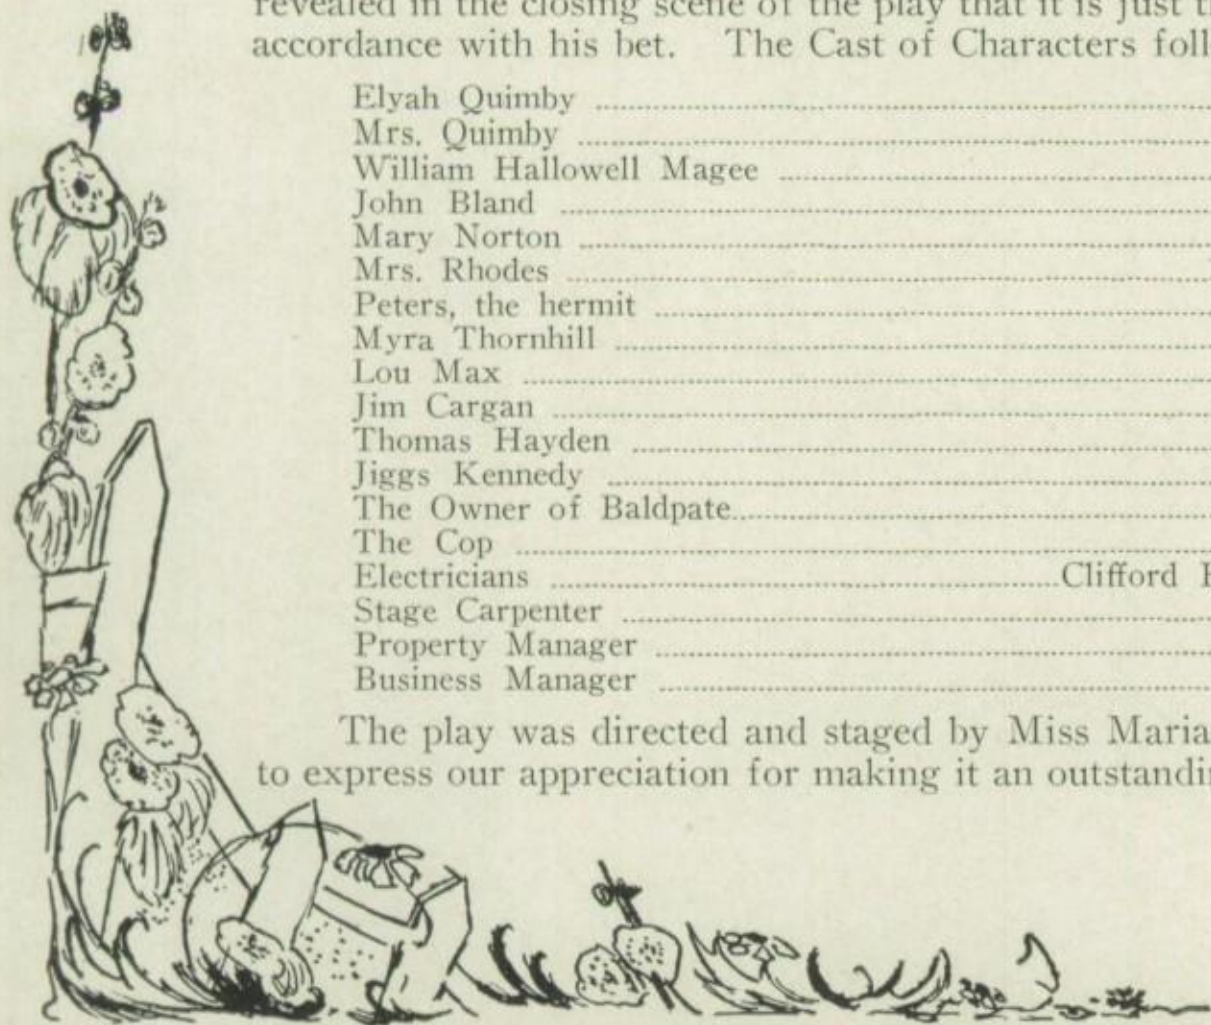

The scene is a summer resort on top of Baldpate Mountain and the action takes place in the middle of winter.

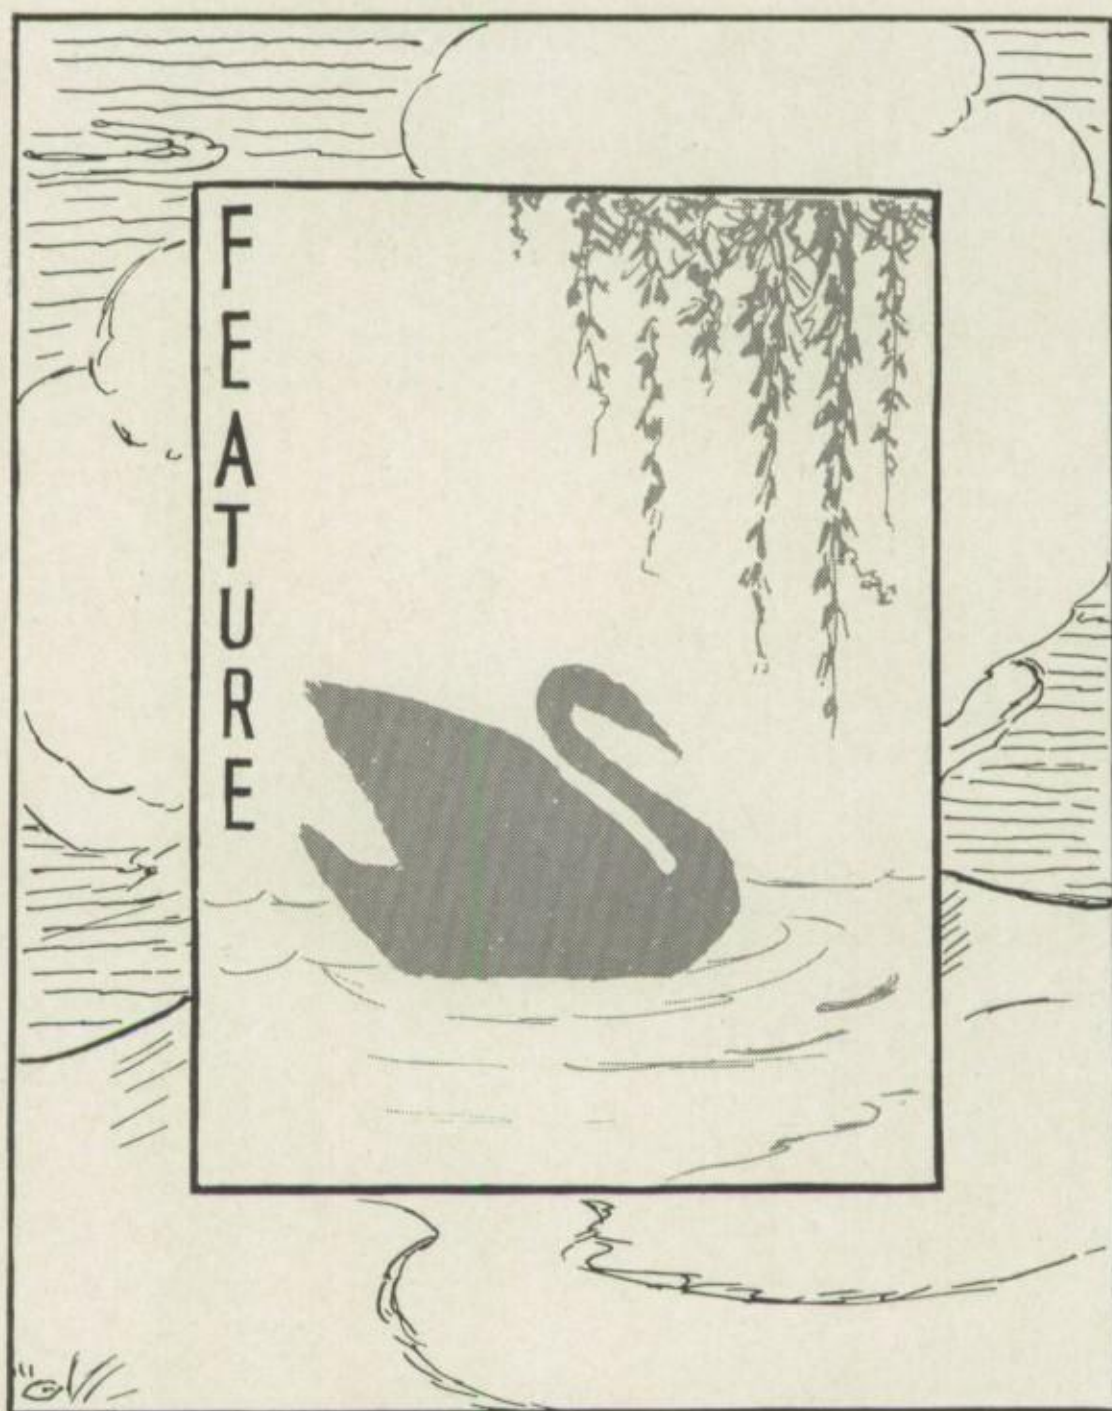

William H. Magee, a writer of popular novels, makes a bet with Hal Bentley of New York, that he can write a book in twenty-four hours and he comes to Baldpate to do it. While here a group of crooked politicians and black-mailers come to hide graft-money in the safe which they all try to get possession of later. Throughout the entire play the audience is kept in suspense as to which one of the crooks will get the money. Soon after, the money is proved to be a fake and is burned.

Although these incidents seem to have really taken place in the hotel, it is revealed in the closing scene of the play that it is just the book Magee has written in accordance with his bet. The Cast of Characters follows:

Elyah Quimby	Paul Roekle
Mrs. Quimby	Josephine Wyatt
William Hallowell Magee	Fred Hopper
John Bland	Wendell Patchett
Mary Norton	Dorothy Drechsler
Mrs. Rhodes	Marion Cochrane
Peters, the hermit	Jack Milliken
Myra Thornhill	Jeannette Everiss
Lou Max	Rockwell Sharer
Jim Cargan	Richard Egan
Thomas Hayden	Ferdinand Anderson
Jiggs Kennedy	Ray Wetherbee
The Owner of Baldpate.....	Sheldon Little
The Cop	Stanley Phipps
Electricians	Clifford Hassett, Virginia McComb
Stage Carpenter	Elwood Kuney
Property Manager	Helen Reed
Business Manager	Christ Christodoulou

The play was directed and staged by Miss Marian Eggstaff to whom we wish to express our appreciation for making it an outstanding success.

CALENDAR

SEPTEMBER

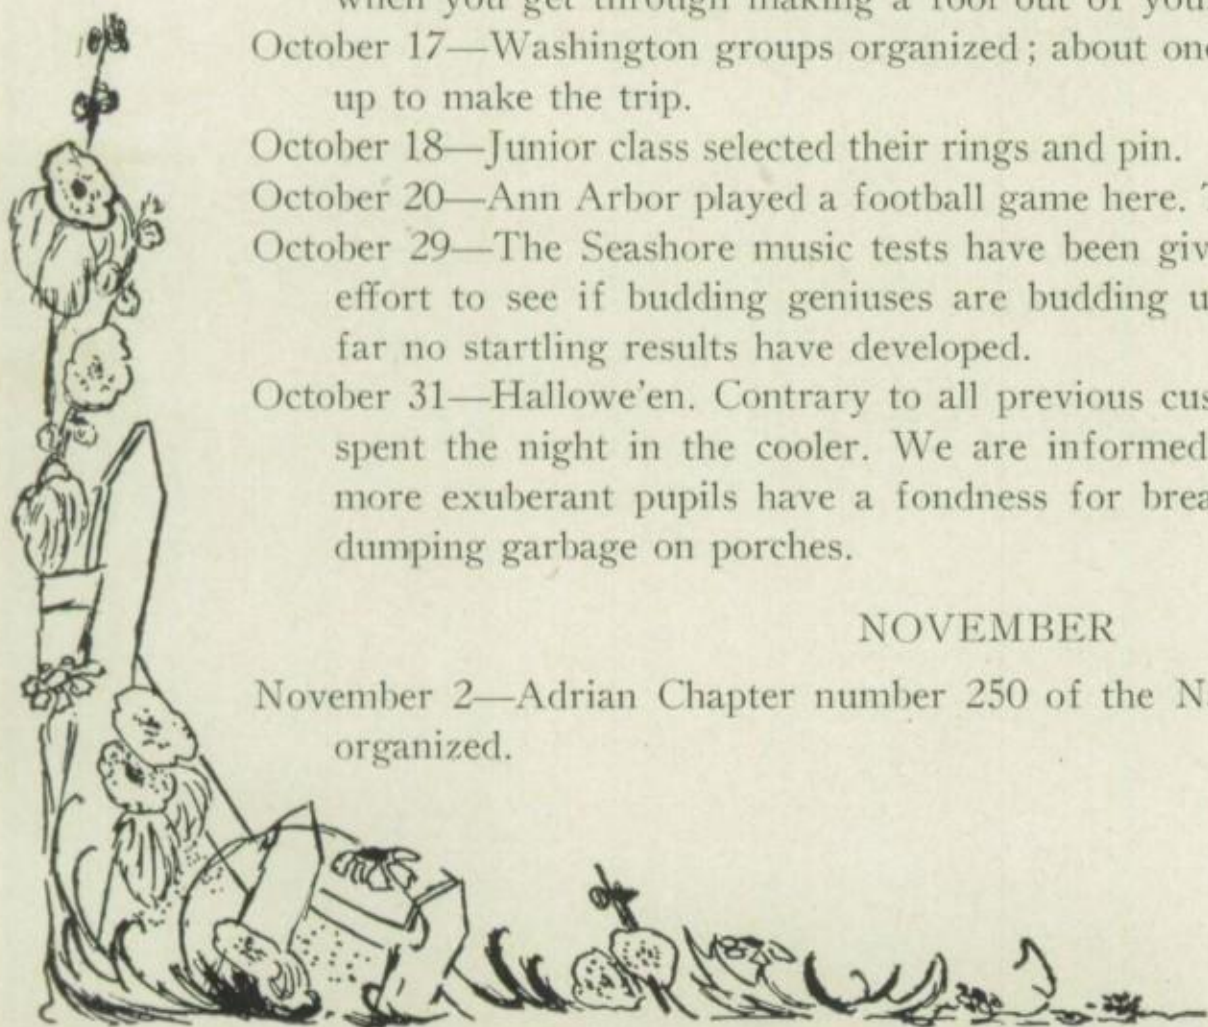

- September 4—First day of school. All our old friends are back on the job; Red Bush working overtime to give the frosh a rousing welcome and Ann Merrill telling all the girls about her summer romances.
- September 5—Classes start and rules and regulations are expounded at great length.
- September 14—A dandy drum solo is rendered by Gordon Dickinson accompanied by other members of the band.
- September 20—Two days off for the fair to make whoopee!!
- September 21—Everybody indulges in the vicious pleasures of pink lemonade, riding the merry-go-round, etc. Rumor hath it that Dick Egan got reckless and spent a quarter on a corn game.
- September 26—The officers for the Senior Class are elected.
- September 28—A delightful ditty "There's a hole in the bottom of the sea" was taught to the assembly by Mr. Hubbard. George Nelson is discovered to have rare talent for singing tenor, or is it bass? The first football game of the season is played at Blissfield. The score was Blissfield 33, Adrian 0.

OCTOBER

- October 5—A football game is played at Clinton. The score was Clinton 6, Adrian 0.
- October 6—As guests of the U. of M., high school pupils witnessed the first University football game at Ann Arbor which was played with Ohio Wesleyan.
- October 12—Our new Lincoln athletic field was dedicated at the Wyandotte game. The band turned out and "did itself proud". It was a good game; the score was a tie, 6 to 6.
- October 16—Mr. Tripp (peering into the back of the room) "Well, Mr. Phelps when you get through making a fool out of yourself, I'll begin."
- October 17—Washington groups organized; about one hundred pupils have signed up to make the trip.
- October 18—Junior class selected their rings and pin.
- October 20—Ann Arbor played a football game here. The score was 6-6.
- October 29—The Seashore music tests have been given to the entire school in an effort to see if budding geniuses are budding unobserved in our school. So far no startling results have developed.
- October 31—Hallowe'en. Contrary to all previous custom no high school students spent the night in the cooler. We are informed, however, that some of the more exuberant pupils have a fondness for breaking windows and playfully dumping garbage on porches.

NOVEMBER

- November 2—Adrian Chapter number 250 of the National Forensic League was organized.

November 6—A presidential election was held at school and from some 600 votes cast by some 500 pupils, Hoover was elected by an overwhelming majority.

November 17—A football game was played at Hillsdale. The score was 13 to 13.

November 22—Miss Miller: "Edward, you can't sleep in here." Ed Fisher: "Thas' all right, it's pretty noisy but I'll manage."

November 23—The big day of the year—the Monroe game. Our band turned out in it's new uniforms and helped things out even if the score was 33-0 in favor of Monroe.

November 16—The negative debating team debated at Ypsilanti. The decision was 2 to 1 in favor of Adrian.

DECEMBER

December 3—Blue Monday a great big reception line was standing on the well beaten path to Mr. Reed's office.

December 5—It is with great pleasure that we report the fact that Dick Walker was awake during the entire morning session.

December 7—The negative debating team debated with Wyandotte here and won a unanimous decision.

December 17—School was closed until January 7th because of considerable sickness in the city.

JANUARY

January 7—After a long and interesting vacation, school inevitably begins. The only item of interest was in the form of romance. Mr. Hubbard came back from the open spaces with a bride in his wake. There also was some talk of New Year's resolutions. After much debating, Minnie Cochrane has decided to give up eating sauer kraut and oyster soup. It is a great sacrifice but as Minnie says "Us girls must watch our proportions."

January 8—A basketball game was played at Wyandotte, the score, Wyandotte 40, Adrian 24.

January 11—A basketball game was played at Ann Arbor, the score, Ann Arbor 34, Adrian 10. The affirmative debating team won a unanimous decision at Fordson.

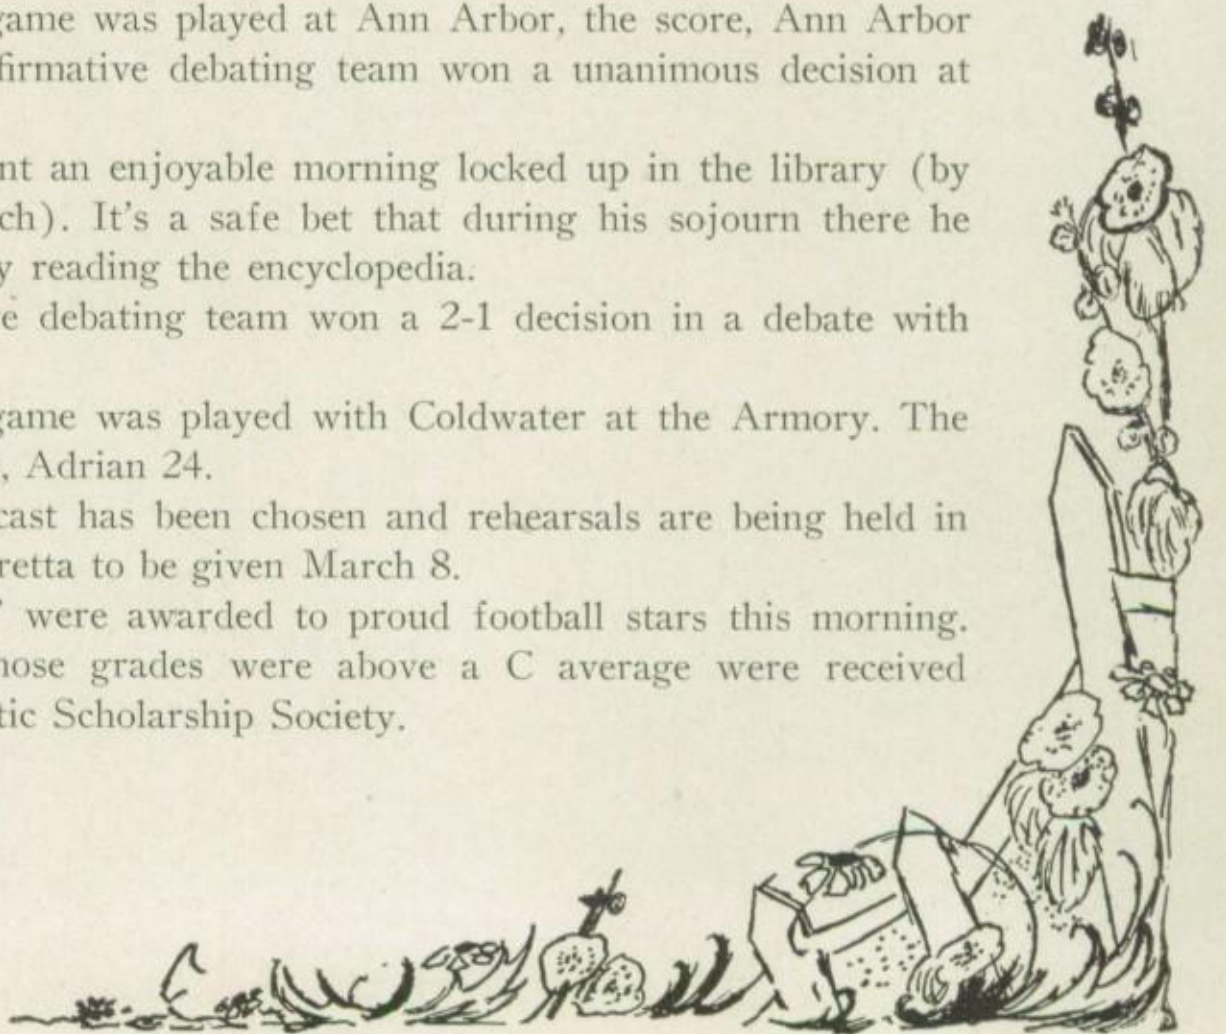

January 17—Red Bush spent an enjoyable morning locked up in the library (by invitation of Miss Patch). It's a safe bet that during his sojourn there he didn't amuse himself by reading the encyclopedia.

January 24—The affirmative debating team won a 2-1 decision in a debate with Ann Arbor.

January 25—A basketball game was played with Coldwater at the Armory. The score was Coldwater 29, Adrian 24.

January 28—The operetta cast has been chosen and rehearsals are being held in preparation for the operetta to be given March 8.

January 30—Athletic "A's" were awarded to proud football stars this morning. Also those athletes whose grades were above a C average were received into the National Athletic Scholarship Society.

FEBRUARY

February 4—Semester dues are due and payable if possible.

February 7—February being a month of bigger and better birthdays our own little Dot Drechsler celebrated one herself.

February 14—The debating team won a two to one decision over Coldwater. A basketball game was played here with River Rouge.

February 15—Adrian debating team won a 2-1 decision at Coldwater where they had entered for the first time in State Elimination Debate.

February 19—Minnie Cochrane gummed up the works considerably by falling down stairs. Her knight errant (if any) didn't happen to be around so Mr. Luse came to the rescue like a true gentleman. We suggest that Minnie time her acts better.

MARCH

March 1—At Royal Oak, the Adrian Debating team was defeated for the first time during the year by a score of 0-3 by the last year's champions, Royal Oak.

March 5—This was a day unparalleled in the history of Adrian High School as the following facts indicate:

1. Herbert Beck didn't have his English lesson.
2. Jane Frost was almost on time to school.
3. Jessie King and Frank Phelps were walking down the hall separately.
4. Harry DeGoode was seen driving twenty-five miles per hour.

(You don't have to believe this.)

March 8—The annual operetta "The Bells of Capistrano" was presented at the armory.

March 15—Adrian won the Regional Tournament in Basketball at Ypsilanti by defeating Monroe 34-20.

APRIL

April 1-8—Spring Vacation.

April 8—Adrian received the University of Michigan award for Excellence in High School Debating.

April 16—A baseball game was played at Blissfield.

April 21—Debating pictures appeared in the Detroit Free Press.

April 22—The senior English classes went to Toledo to see the Gordon Craig production of Macbeth.

April 23—A baseball game was played at Adrian. Hudson 11, Adrian 4.

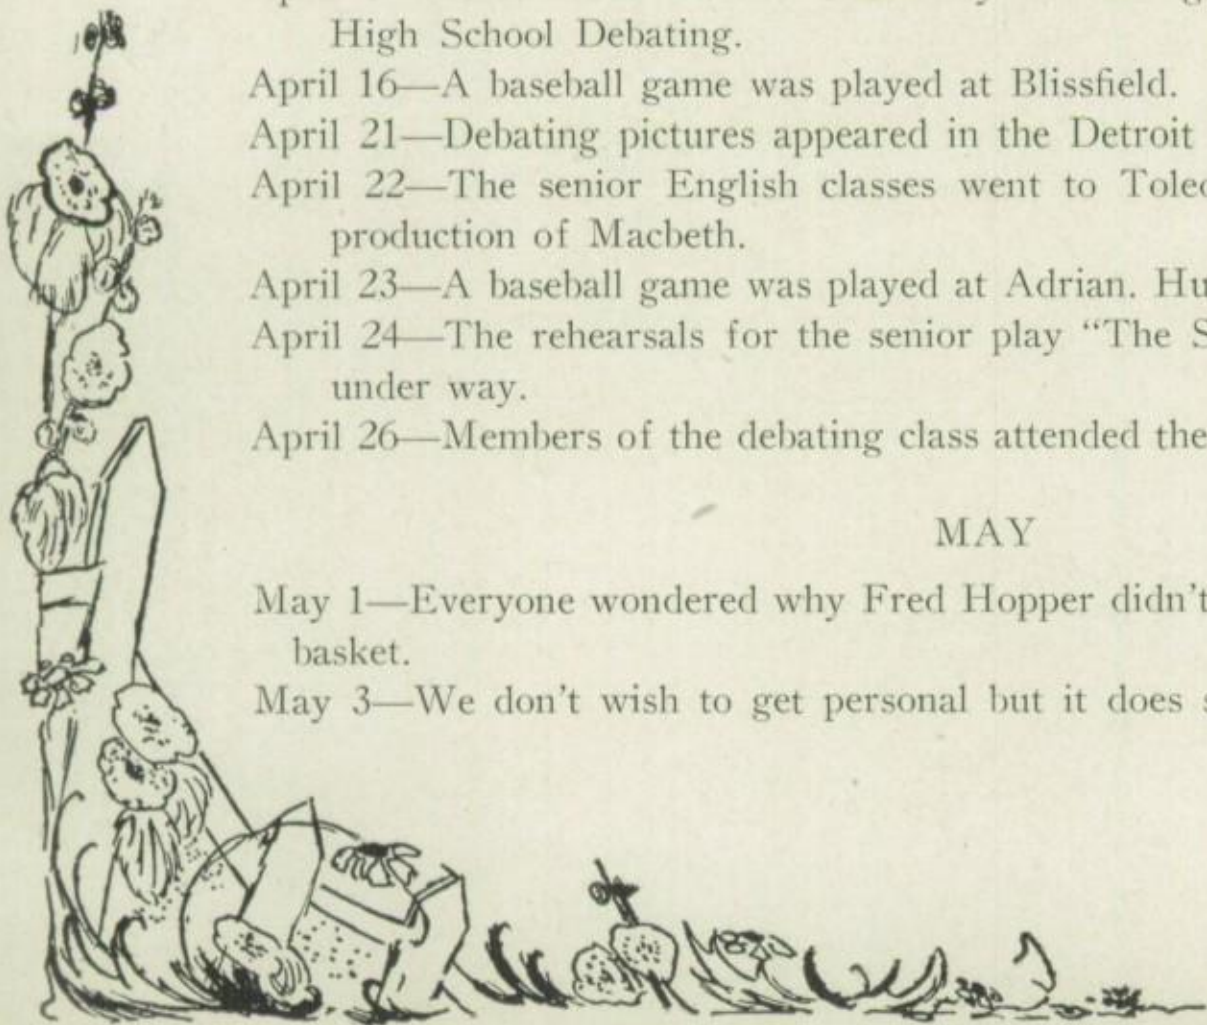

April 24—The rehearsals for the senior play "The Seven Keys to Baldpate" are under way.

April 26—Members of the debating class attended the State Debate at Ann Arbor.

MAY

May 1—Everyone wondered why Fred Hopper didn't give Helen Maxham a May basket.

May 3—We don't wish to get personal but it does seem that the affair between

Mabel Smith and Emerson Whitcher is getting a wee bit complicated. Maybe it's because of the spring zephyrs or what not.

May 4—A baseball game was played here with Battle Creek. Battle Creek 9, Adrian 2.

May 7—A baseball game was played at Manitou Beach with Hudson. Hudson 5, Adrian 1.

May 8—The senior class pictures are on display in a downtown store window. No guffaws, please.

May 9—The proverbial biggest circus in the world came to town. "The King's English," the only rival of the circus was presented in the assembly.

May 10—A baseball game was played at Fordson. Score Fordson 3, Adrian 4. Track Meet was held at Ann Arbor. Byron Vedder was elected state chairman of Forensic League.

May 14—A baseball game which was to have been played here with Blissfield was postponed. Rain.

May 17—The Senior Play was given at the Armory.

May 18—A baseball game was played here with Royal Oak. Score, Royal Oak 7; Adrian 17.

May 24—A baseball game was played at Ecorse. Score, Ecorse 3; Adrian 5.

May 27—Senior Class "took off" for Washington.

May 31—A baseball game was forfeited by Fordson.

JUNE

June 1—Ferdinand always was good at "picking up" things and have you seen the collection since he returned from Washington.

June 4—A baseball game was played at Battle Creek.

June 6—A baseball game was played here with Monroe.

June 9—Baccalaureate.

June 10—Senior picnic—it is believed that everyone arrived safely.

June 11—Senior Send-Off.

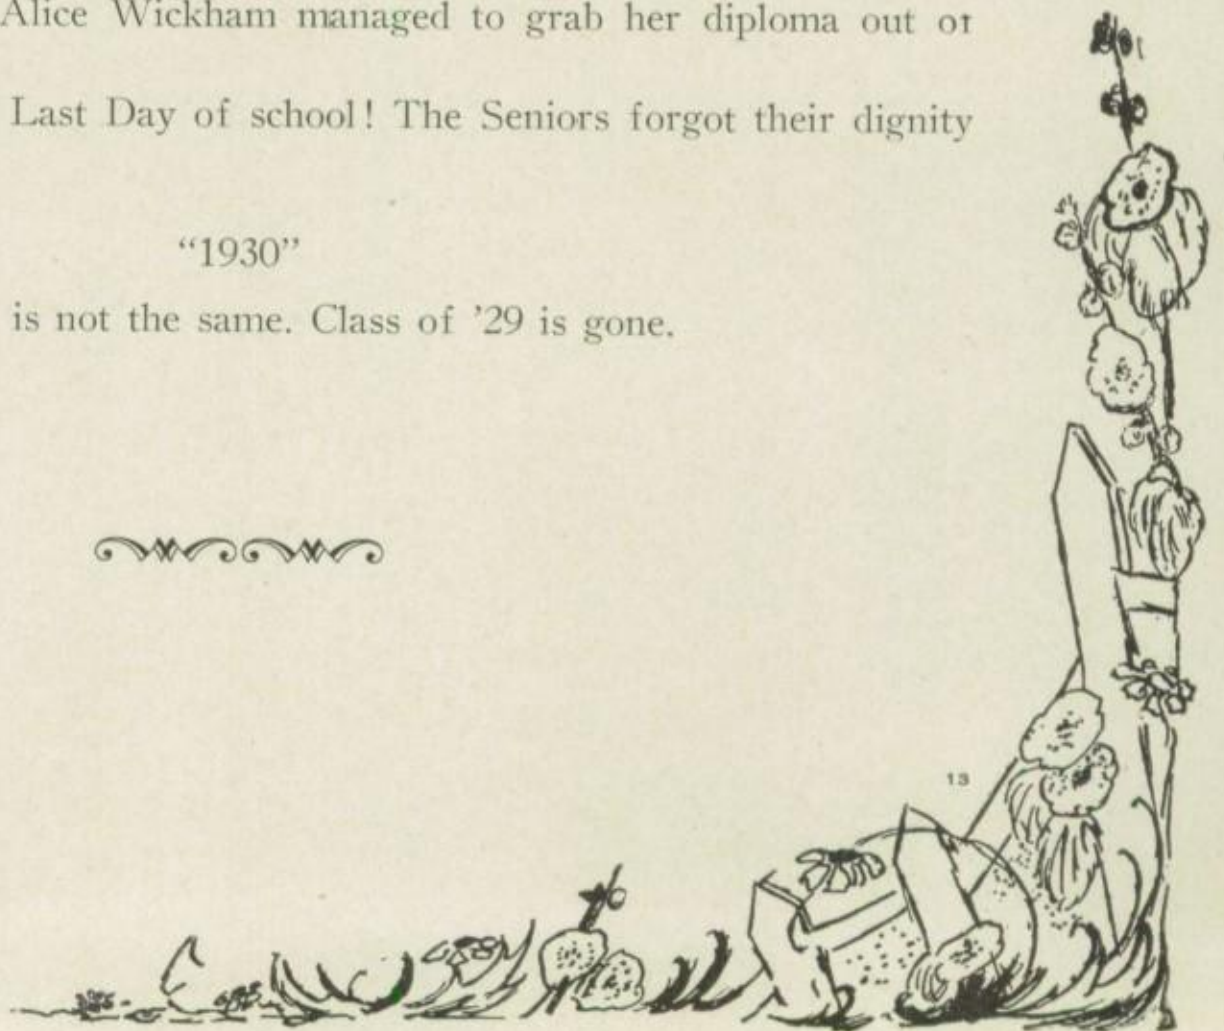

June 12—Class Day.

June 13—Commencement. Alice Wickham managed to grab her diploma out of the grand rush.

June 14—Alumni Banquet. Last Day of school! The Seniors forgot their dignity and how!

"1930"

Old school is not the same. Class of '29 is gone.

CLASS SONG

BLUE AND GOLD

LUCILE HYPES

Tune: Integer Vitae

I

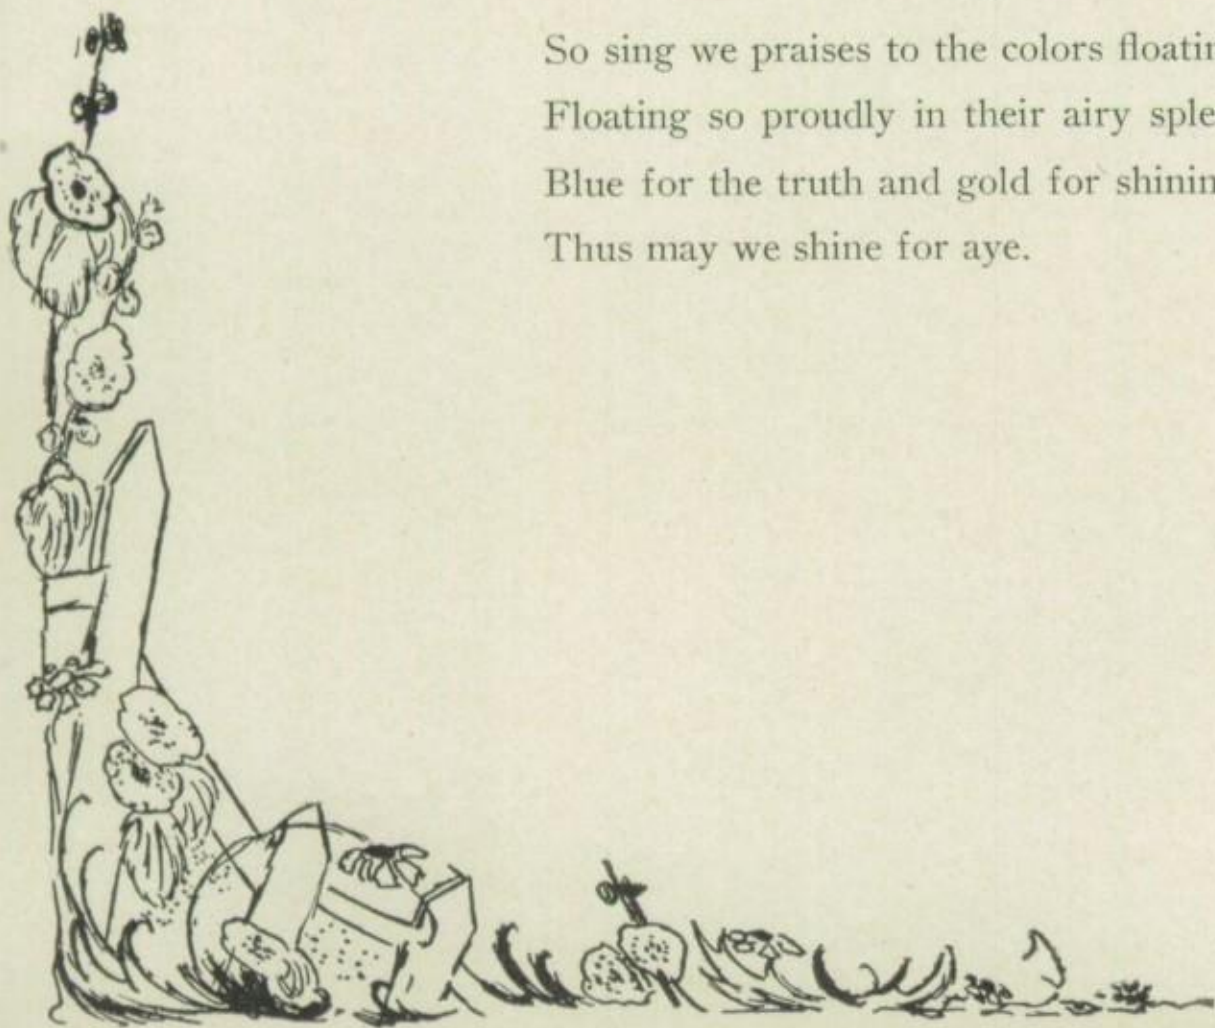

Blue as the heavens, glowing in the mornrise,
Gold as the ribbons, streaming at the sunrise,
Shine forth our colors; their radiance glowing,
Thus may they shine for aye.

II

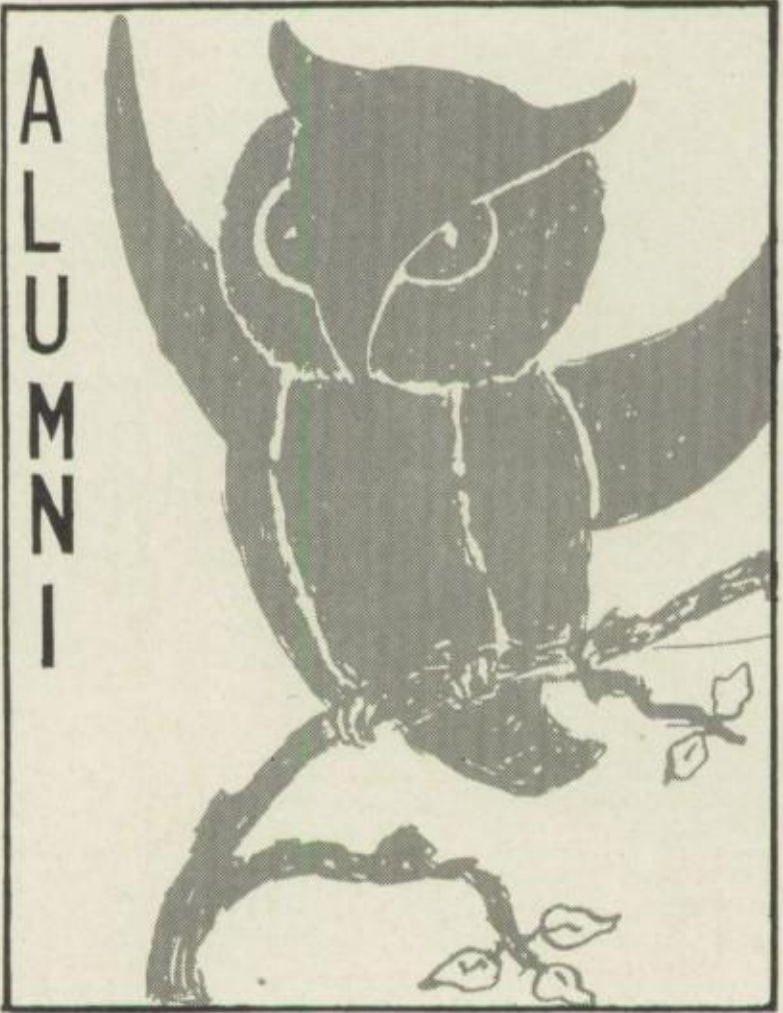

Bright is the gold that fills the world at nooning,
Bright are the blue waves, ever glowing, shining,
Brighter our colors gleam in radiant splendor,
Thus may they shine for aye.

III

So sing we praises to the colors floating,
Floating so proudly in their airy splendor,
Blue for the truth and gold for shining purity,
Thus may we shine for aye.

JOKES

YOU'VE SEEN 'EM

Perhaps the inventor of slow motion pictures got his idea from watching two Scotchmen in a restaurant fighting for the check.

* * *

Jo Wyatt: "Conductor! Help me off this train."

Conductor: "Sure."

Jo Wyatt: "You see, I'm stout and I have to get off backwards; the porter thinks I'm getting on and gives me a shove on again. I'm five stations past my destination now."

* * *

Husband (to doctor on telephone): "My wife has severe pain in the back of her neck, and complains of a sort of soreness in her stomach."

Doctor: "She has malarial colic."

Husband: "What shall I do for her?"

Here central switched on a machinist who was talking to a man about a boiler.

Machinist: "I think she is covered with scales inside about an inch thick. Let her cool down during the night, and before she fires up in the morning take a hammer and pound her thoroughly all over."

Emerson Witcher: "I underwent an operation yesterday."

Mabel Smith: "You surprise me. Was it very serious?"

Emerson: "I had a growth removed from my head."

Mabel: "And here you are up and around and looking well."

Emerson: "Yes, I only had my hair cut."

A roomer at a hotel annoyed the other roomers by jumping and skipping around his room until the proprietor objected and demanded an explanation.

The guest explained by saying: "My doctor gave me some medicine for my rheumatism with instructions to take it three nights running and then to skip a night. This happens to be my skipping night."

Doris Benjamin: "So I shall have to take an anesthetic. How long will it be before I know anything?"

Doctor: "Now, don't expect too much of the anesthetic."

* * *

Mr. Metler to Student: "If you want your photographs mounted be sure and bring your own horse."

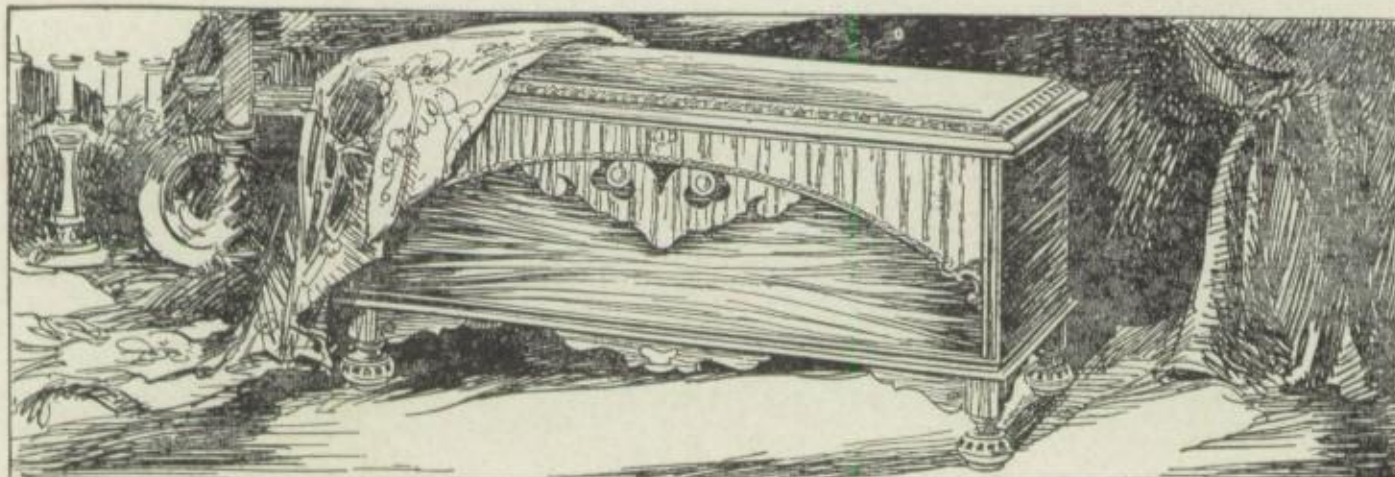

* * *

Treat Betz: "Say, pa?"

Mr. Betz: "What is it?"

Treat Betz: "Do people have clocks in their stockings to help them beat time with their feet?"

A beautiful gift for her graduation
a chest . . . steeped in the romance of the past

THE DOWLING DOWRY CHEST

by LANE

The design of this chest reverts to an old dowry chest said to have been used in the Court of James I in about the year 1620.

According to the story, one of the court attaches, a Sir Henry Dowling, had one daughter whom he loved very dearly.

This daughter, Amelia, had been sent to a convent on the continent. When she was ready to return to England, Sir Henry, in true fatherly fashion, desired to commemorate her home coming with a gift.

So he called in the artisans and he ordered them to make a chest which should surpass all others in beauty. He selected the wood, watched the work step by step, and finally when the chest was completed, nobody in all the Court had ever seen one lovelier.

Amelia came home. She accepted the chest with heart overflowing with joy. And, according to the story which ends just as all such stories should, she married, settled down and lived happily ever after.

The gift from her father then passed on down through many generations finally to bestow its wealth of beauty and romance upon this modern adaptation, the Dowling Hope Chest, especially designed for the Girl Graduate by Lane—the world's foremost cedar chest maker.

This chest has the loveliest of Oriental and American walnut veneers on the outside and the choicest of aromatic red cedar heartwood on the inside, the cedar being $\frac{3}{4}$ inch thick in accordance with the U. S. Government recommendations for a moth-killing cedar chest. Heavily paneled top richly embellished with hand carved moldings. The chest is roomy, capacious, inviting—indeed a charming treasure to hand down to future generations.

We shall be most happy to have you inspect this chest. For the Girl Graduate—for any girl or young woman—no finer or more acceptable gift is easily conceivable. The price is $35. Convenient terms may be arranged, if desired. We show many other pleasing Lane models.

"Oh, you have a dog. I thought you didn't like dogs."

"Well, I don't. But my wife picked up a lot of dog soap at a bargain sale."

Earl Leininger: "Do you carry B-eliminators?"

John Gregg: "No, but we have roach powder and some fly swatters."

* * *

Hotel Clerk: "Have you a reservation?"

Ruth Sherman: "Do I look like an Indian?"

* * *

Teacher: "Give an example of rigid economy."

Herbert Beck: "A dead Scotchman."

Sailor Ed: "How do you like life in the navy? Quite a few turns to get used to aren't there?"

Sailor Cy: "I should say so. At night you turn in, and just as you are about to turn over somebody turns up and shouts, 'Turn Out!'"

Mr. Reed: "What's that on our new car's fenders?"

Helen Reed (Just back from driving): "Oh, that's traffic jam."

Helen Prange:—"and I told him I didn't want to see him any more."

Marie Prange: "What did he do?"

Helen Prange: "He turned out the lights."

* * *

Art Kells: "You sell anti-knock gas?"

Garage Keeper: "Yes, sir."

Art Kells: "Let me have a pint. I want to rub some on my girl's knees."

Marcus Delirious: "And what happened at the bridge?"

Callus Tumbago: "Horatio made several grand slams."

* * *

A deafening report followed by a groan. The circus hands ran from all directions. Had a tent stay snapped or a cage fallen over? Perhaps someone had been shot. A crowd quickly gathered in a far corner of the tent. A form lay prostrate and silent on the ground. The india rubber man had had a blowout.

* * *

Ex-cheer Leader: "Brethren, let us now sing hymn 333, and talk it up."

* * *

Small Girl to Rejected Suitor "And you needn't flaunt yer ice cream in front of me, either. I ain't no gold-digger."

Salvation Army Girl: "Won't you give a quarter to the Lord?"

Jean Macstingy: "How old are you, miss?"

Girl: "Nineteen, sir."

Mac: "Oh, well, I'm past 65. I'll be seeing Him before you, so I'll hand it to Him myself."

An old man went to a gland specialist and asked how much it would cost to rejuvenate him.

"To make you feel like 30 again, it will cost $1,000," said the surgeon. "But to make you feel like 25 again will cost $2,000, and anything below that age $5,000.00.

"I don't care about the cost; just make me 18 again," said the oldster. The operation was a success. But when the surgeon sent in his bill the rejuvenated one sent it back with this notation:

"You can't collect from a minor."

FISHY STORY

She saw a shark and swam for shore,

But felt her strength diminish;

She floundered, whaled, her mussle failed—

Ecod! she saw her fin-ish.

* * *

Frances Wagner: "You don't expect me to believe that you're a director in the bank when only worked there a month."

Jack Milliken: "Sure! I'm a director of envelopes on the addressing machine."

BITTER REFLECTION

A mountaineer who had never before seen a mirror, found one, and looking into it, exclaimed, "Well, here is a picture of my father who died years ago." In order to keep the picture he put it under the mattress of his bed. Every day he looked at it and at last his wife happened to see him.

The next time she went into the bedroom the wife too looked at it and said, "So that's the hussy he's been running around with?"

* * *

It was along a beautiful stretch of highway and the telephone line along the way was in the hands of repair men. She was driving and cooing, when of a sudden she spied the men climbing the telephone poles. "Elmer, just look at those fools," she exclaimed; "do they think I never drove a car before?"

* * *

Patron: "Here's a piece of rubber tire in my hash!"

Waiter: "No doubt. The motor is displacing the horse everywhere."

Ethel Spaur: "What is the cure for sea-sickness?"

Margaret Hoisington: "Give it up."

* * *

Margaret Graham: "Where did you get that lovely lace dress?"

Mildred Emert: "That isn't lace. I've just been to Chicago."

Ralph Hill: "There's lots of push and go in me. I'd like to show you."

Mr. Reed: "Very well. That door opens outward. Try your push on that and then demonstrate your go on the outside."

* * *

"What Ho! Sir Percival?"

"Zounds, I have a Shakespearian cough."

"How sayest thou, a Shakespearian cough?"

"Forsooth TB or not TB that is the question."

* * *

It has been proved that a very efficient balm for an hysterical Hi School Girl is a firm kiss. Now the problem is how to get them hysterical.

Harry Rogers: "This match won't light, Mr. Beddow."

Mr. Beddow: "Hmm, that's funny it lit all right a few minutes ago."

Arthur Kells: "I like the Kiss Waltz, but I prefer it played on the mouth organ."

* * *

Mr. Tripp: "Why are days longer in the summer?"

Lucile Hypes: "The sun expands them."

Mr. Beddow: "Can't you answer me?"

Alberta Weldrich: "I shook my head—"

Mr. Beddow: "You don't expect me to hear the rattle way up here do you?"

* * *

Muriel Bertram was a nice girl but dumb, so dumb that she was fired from the five and ten cent store because she couldn't remember the prices.

Hog calling contests are a lot of Hoo-e-e.!

"Micky" Emert: "Let's go to the pictures so that we can hold hands without being seen."

"Bus" Walker: "Let's go to a talkie so that we can kiss without being heard."

* * *

Dick Egan: "They say that if there is anything in a man, travel will bring it out."

Jack Milliken: "And that's no dream! I found that out my first day at sea."

"Poppa, what's a coquette?"

"Oh—ah—just a small size coca cola, Oscar."

Lyle Cole: "What were you doing on the road to Chicago if you wanted to go to Toledo?"

Harry DeGoode: "Oh! it's a better road."

Fred Hopper (as waiter): "Haven't they given you a menu yet mister?"

Famished Customer: "Yes, but I finished that half an hour ago."

Says one (as two sailors pass them) : "My word, but time flies."

Says two : "How's that?"

Says one : "Didn't two deck-aids just pass?"

"Algy," she remarked, "how funny you look tonight!"

"Yes, dear," answered her husband, "I'm trying to raise a mustache. I wonder what color it will be when it comes out?"

"Why," she said, as she looked closely at his upper lip, "gray, according to the rate it appears to be growing."

* * *

Chuck Woller : "It seems to me that you have a very keen sense of the comical."

Anne Merrill (visibly flattered) : "Yes, I cannot deny the fact. How have you discovered it?"

Chuck Woller : "I saw you smiling at yourself in the mirror."

Maxine Maynard : "Should I marry a man who lies to me?"

Jeannette Everiss : "Do you want to be an old maid?"

Visitor (being shown round castle) : "Who is the victim in the torture chamber?"

Host : "That isn't the torture chamber,—that's my wife having her beauty treatment."
